TAYLOR, TRER, WARRER, SAUNDERS AND BAXTER INDICTED AGAIN FOR JURORSAPPEALS DENIED,
TRIAL OF WHITE GETS UNDER WAY

Jury Selected in Record Time—Judge Hopes Hearing Will Be Concluded by Friday.

ALL STRIKES USED IN DRAWING JURY

Demurrer Is Based on Plea That White Is Not City Official and Did Not Bribe.

Plans for speeding of the trial of Jack White, accused of defrauding the city of Atlanta, to an early conclusion were announced Tuesday by Judge John D. Humphries, after the jury had been selected, motions to quash the indictments and for a change of venue and a general demurrer to the indictment overruled.

Two sessions will be held daily, one from 9 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon and the other from 2:30 until 5 or 6 o'clock.
Judge Humphries announced. By this the judge added, he hoped to complete the trial by Friday night.

Taking of the testimony will begin when court is reconvened at 9 o'clock this morning with the following jurors in the box:

O. E. Morrow, 119 Merritt street, salesman.
R. C. Sellars, 755 Brookline street, car inspector.

C. C. Lee, 717 Bernice street, with Royal Insurance Company.
H. A. Allen, 384 Decker street.
Eugene Webb, 38 Elm street, Hapeville, bank teller.

I. Bobo, 14 Etheridge street, Center Hill.
D. E. Rogers, 200 Ivy road, engineer, with Westinghouse Company.

E. G. McElroy, East point, grocer.
L. H. Williamson, 336 Gibson street, salesman, with the city.

John B. Courtenay, 663 Sherwood road.
G. C. Wilson, 72 Alder street, salesman.

E. W. Baker, Hapeville, solicitor.
Jury Selected Quickly.

The jury was selected Tuesday in less than an hour. Both state and defense quickly moved to get the seven "strikes" allowed, respectively, though neither Assistant Solicitor Ed
A. Stephens and Special Prosecutor William Scheley Howard, for the state, nor former Mayor Walter A. Sims and H. A. Allen, for the defense, tarried long in deciding whether or not to accept a juror. According to court attaches, the jury was selected in almost record time, once the striking of its prospective members got under way after the morning of arguments.

The White defense ended its pleas for abatement, change of venue and a general demurrer, losing its appeals for the following:

The quashing of the indictments on the ground that the employment of Special Prosecutor Howard by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin because Mr. Howard was being paid out of funds raised on popular subscription at the solicitation of Mr. Boykin.

Motion of White's counsel for a change of venue on the ground that the newspapers of Atlanta had so unflinchingly publicized the case that it would be "impossible" for White to get a fair trial in Fulton county.

The general demurrer on the ground that White, not being an official or employee of the city had nothing to do with the fixing of prices the city paid for its purchases and that no direct charge of defrauding any official of the city had been made in the indictment.

Deny Defense Charge.

Immediately on introduction of the first motion, Mr. Howard countered with the statement that the burden of proof rested on the defense. Both Mr.
Howard and Mr. Boykin were in the stand and told the court that the funds for the employment of the special prosecutor were not those obtained by the citizens' committee, which has sponsored and financially supported the investigation into charges of municipal graft and corruption which resulted in the indictment of White. City Purchasing Agent William P. Egan, Councilman Harry York and others, York, already convicted and sentenced to three years on the chain gang, is reported recovered from a recent illness and ready to appear as a witness in behalf of White. Price was in court Tuesday as the indictment on which White is being tried names him, White and York, jointly, the state having elected to try White after counsel for the defendants severed the case.

Walter McElreath, general chairman of the citizens' committee, also took the stand to declare that though between $7,000 and $8,000 was collected by the committee none of it was expended for the services of Mr.
Howard.

"Early in the investigation when the idea of employing Mr. Howard

SEEN IN DECIDING POSTOFFICE SITE

Assistant Postmaster
General May Revisit City; Rail Officials Submit Final Proposals.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, April 1.—Subject to a decision which may be reached tomorrow on final proposals submitted today by officials of the Central of Georgia railway and the Atlanta Terminal Company, Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General John W.
Philp said tonight he was inclined to accept the suggestion made this afternoon by Mayor Ragsdale and prominent businessmen of Atlanta that he undertake a further personal inspection of proposed sites before definitely deciding on the location of the new $2,100,000 federal building authorized for the city.

Although telegrams from Mayor Ragsdale and others urging him to go to the city again before deciding on a site are understood to have been sent from Atlanta this afternoon, Mr. Philp had not received them at the time he left the postoffice department late today. When informed of their contents by The Constitution correspondent, he replied:

Cannot Come for 10 Days.

"If the city of Atlanta is willing to permit a slight additional delay, I should be willing to follow the suggestion made for going to the city again to see the messages from the various sites offered for the new federal building, provided we come to no definite conclusion tomorrow on the several conferences held here today on the site offered by the Central of Georgia railway. I will consider the suggestion more fully tomorrow, after having an opportunity to read the messages from the city, and give a definite reply then."

Mr. Philp said it would be a week or 10 days before he would be able to leave Washington for the city.

The fourth assistant postmaster general spent practically the entire day in conferences with President A.
E. Clift, of the Central of Georgia;
R. B. Pegram, of the Atlanta Terminal Company, and Postmaster John Large, of Atlanta—all with a view of ironing out differences arising over the selection of the central site, which lies immediately adjacent to the Terminal station.

As a result of the conferences, officials of the railway and terminal companies have presented to the government a series of definite and what are regarded as final proposals, outlining the conditions and terms under which the Central of Georgia site is available for sale. These proposals were submitted to the postoffice department, constituting the committee in active charge of the federal building program.

There was no indication tonight of the decision, if any, to be made on the selection of the site. The central property, which was tentatively selected as a site for the new structure something like a year ago. All Mr. Philp was prepared to say was that the final proposals had been submitted and an effort would be made tomorrow to settle the matter.

Proposals Kept Secret.

Briefly, the problem revolves around the desire of the government to obtain from the terminal company certain concessions in the way of aerial rights for the construction of mail conveyance tracks from the proposed site of the new building to the station. Numerous conferences have been held over the situation in the past but no agreement has been forthcoming.

In a final effort to adjust the differences, postoffice officials summoned the several Atlanta officials to Washington today for a conference.

Following the conference held at the department in the office of Mr.
Philp, all returned to Atlanta except
Mr. Pegram and Postmaster Large, who are remaining over on other matters.

Mr. Pegram declined to discuss the conferences tonight, stating that everything is now in the hands of the government officials and it would be improper for him to reveal the proposals left with Mr. Philp until a decision is reached by the postoffice department.

In summing the Atlanta officials to the capital, department heads let it be known that they were prepared to move immediately for the selection of another site should the Central property be found unavailable.

Mrs. John A. Hornady and John Royer Laud Proposal for City-Wide Primaries.

Mrs. John A. Hornady, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club, and John Royer, president of the Exchange Club, Tuesday added their support to the public demand to outlaw ward politics through nomination of all members of council in primaries in which every registered voter shall be eligible to cast a ballot, instead of the present system calling for ward primaries.

The move has gained impetus with every passing day and the sentiment now is overwhelming for the plan, according to observers, who declare that the time has come for ward domination of politics to cease and for the people of Atlanta to assert their privilege of nominating their public servants through primaries in which all voters may cast ballots.

"I feel that no move in recent years has more real merit than the proposal which will be before council at its next meeting," Mrs. Hornady said.

"The plan should have the enthusiastic approval of all members of council, and while I feel that the majority are willing to sacrifice any personal ambition which might be gratified through the ward system, there probably will be some who will fight the move."

Mr. Royer was enthusiastic in his support and sympathy with the proposal.

"It seems to me to be the right time to inaugurate a system in which all voters may share alike," he declared. "The plan is based on the interest of the public and the best interest of the city."

"The Democratic executive committee, I am certain will accede to the demands of the public and will change the system so that all voters may participate in the nomination of council members just as they do now in the case of aldermen and various department heads."

"Mr. J. P. Wall, chairman of the executive committee, made a good decision when he announced that he would take the matter before the executive committee for a 'show down' vote and will not ask any committee to make a recommendation. This will put the issue squarely up to the executive committee, and they should deal sympathetically with it as they have with other important matters in the past."

Twenty-one of the 39 members of council already are on record as favoring the measure, and it is likely that others will join in the vote on the issue when Councilman Joseph E.
Berman, backed by his colleague, Councilman John A. White of the fourth ward, and many other staunch friends of the Georgia supreme court sued an order staying the execution pending an appeal of an extraordinary motion for a new trial.

The order interrupted deliberations of the state prison commission on a last minute appeal for clemency. It will mean, court attaches said, that the execution will be held up at least until July, when the appeal is heard in the regular order of business of the supreme court.

The order was issued on an application for a writ of habeas corpus by Judge W. W. Stark, of Commerce, to suspend the execution of the death sentence pending the appeal of an extraordinary motion for a new trial which he had refused.

Denied By Judge Stark.

The motion was denied by the supreme court judge Monday, and a bill of exceptions signed by him. In the absence of a supersedeas, it was said, the execution, set for this morning, would have been carried out before the supreme court had opportunity to review the question presented.

The supreme court acted on it "to preserve jurisdiction" pending the hearing.

E. C. Stark, representing Smith, said the motion for a new trial was based primarily on evidence submitted to the prison board Tuesday in the course of the hearing there; that one of the jurors had stated, prior to being chosen that he would "break that low neck" referring to Smith; and the alleged fact that the prosecution had "hid out" the chief defense witness, Mary Belle Brown.

Killed In Argument.

Wells was killed on January 3, 1928, following an argument in his store. A delegation representing the Athena Businessmen's Evangelical Club appeared before the prison commission to plead for clemency.

The hearing there was dismissed on announcement of the action of the supreme court, as the prison board is considered primarily as a body of last resort. Smith was taken from Milledgeville to Athens to remain in jail pending new developments in the case.

ATLANTA SCORES
284 TO DISTANCE
BRILLIANT FIELD

Horton Smith, Conqueror of Bobby at Savannah, Is Second With Card of 297 Strokes.

BY ED DANFORTH,
Constitution Sports Editor.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1.—Bobby Jones shot to pieces the bristling ranks of professional golf here today with a machine-gun fire of sub-par golf and won the southeastern open championship with a score of 284.

Thirteen strokes back of him was Horton Smith, the pale white hope of the paid players, with 297. There are 13 strokes in a mile, you might say.

And back of Horton were strewn the flower of the tribe amid the scenic beauties of the Forest Hills-Ricker course, routed once more by the amateur gunner. It was one of the most conclusive defeats ever recorded in an open championship.

Horton Smith, the man who pushed a stroke ahead of Bobby at Savannah recently, finished his round early and left his 297 as a target for his rival.

He motored to the airport and took a fast cabin plane for Washington.

The plane swooped down over the heads of the gallery following Jones and Horton waved a greeting and farewell. The gesture might have been a salute from the best professional who had taken that means of beating a defeated rival to a winner's check.

Professionals may look or sile or get the hands into the stroke too soon, but there is one habit in golf they may not have in common. They do not now and then, but they seem to be in no danger of contracting the habit.

Jones finished the first 36 holes of the competition with a pair of 72s for 144, the exact par of the country.

YOUTH GETS STAY ON EXECUTION EVE

Wash Smith, of Banks County, Due To Die Today, Granted Delay.

Less than 24 hours before Wash
Smith, 20-year-old Banks county farmer, was to meet death in the electric chair at Milledgeville for killing J. L.
Wells, his one-time employer and friend, the Georgia supreme court sued an order staying the execution
pending an appeal of an extraordinary
motion for a new trial.

Census Enumerators Begin Gathering of Data Today

The above photograph shows Mrs. Kenneth Weatherwax, of 988 Spring street, one of the census enumerators for this district, questioning Horace Russell, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, preparatory to the actual start of the census here this morning. Mr.
Russell gave The Constitution his answers to the census questions for publication this morning.

Enumerator Starts
Census at Midnight

Charles S. McDonald, a journeyman machinist for the Georgia Power Company, may be the first person in the United States to answer the 32 questions which the government wants to know as it goes about the business of collecting information for the decennial census.

E. G. Thomason, enterprising enumerator for the Collins (Fulton county) district, was at the house of McDonald in Bolton this morning just as Father Time clicked 12:01, April 2, 1930, and asked all the necessary questions.

The zero hour for the 1930 census is at hand and some 250 enumerators in this vicinity are ready to begin their house-to-house canvass this morning for the purpose of finding out just how many people inhabit Atlanta. The schedule calls for one full day of work to become accustomed to their task, following which the entire group will report back to the office of Dr. Elizabeth Brooch to check up on possible errors and straighten out any possible misunderstandings which may have arisen. Then it will be a "finish line" calculated to last approximately two weeks in the city proper and slightly longer in the farm districts.

Horace Russell, prominent Atlanta attorney and president of the Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday afternoon offered his services as an example of just how the household count would be taken and was interviewed on the subject by Mrs. Kenneth Weather-wax, of 988 Spring street, one of the enumerators for this district.

While all information gathered in the census is strictly confidential and not to be divulged by the census bureau under any circumstances, Mr.
Russell himself in this instance gave his permission for the answers to be made public in order that the people of Atlanta might have a better idea of what is expected of them.

Russell's answers, in brief, were as follows: His name is Horace Russell; is the head of his family; owns his own home, which is valued at $225, 000; does not have a radio; does not live on a farm; is a white male, 40 years of age, and married at the age of 27.

He has not attended school since September 1, 1923; is able to read and write; was born in Mississippi;
as were both his parents; speaks English; is a lawyer connected with the firm of Jones, Fuller, Eason & Clapp; was at work on the last regular working day and is not a veteran of any foreign wars.

If he had not been at work on the last regular working day (Monday, in this case), it would have been necessary to fill out an additional list of questions on the employment schedule. This lists the names of such people. The next question, "Does this person usually work at a gainful occupation?" is in the nature of a check.
If the answer is "No," there are no additional questions, since this list is concerned with those who usually work but who happen to fail to do so on the day before the census is taken.
Assuming that the reply is "Yes," the next question is, "Does this person have a job of any kind?"

Question Procedure.

If the answer to this question is "Yes," questions seven through ten must be answered, and if the answer is "no," questions 12 through 15 must be answered.

Questions seven through ten follow:
How many weeks since he has worked on that job? Why was he not at work yesterday? Does he lose a day's pay by not being at work? How many days did he work last week? How many days in a full-time week?

Questions 12 through 15 are: Is he able to work? Is he looking for a job? How many weeks has he been without a job? Reason for being out of a job?

These last represent a new department in the census work and are considered of vital importance at this time.

Dr. Brooch is exceedingly anxious for all Atlantans to be prepared to give all necessary replies to the questions of the enumerators.

Japan also reserved the right to replace submarines before they reach the limit of 52,700 tons. This was stated as due to a desire to insure continuous employment of skilled dockyard workmen.

Japan further desired it understood that the agreement should terminate at the end of 1936 and that the agreement should provide for an extension of the capital ship building holiday.

EDUCATION BOARD DECIDES AGAINST ADOPTING BUDGET

Postponement Voted by 10-to-2 Vote Despite Letter From Mayor Ragsdale and B. Graham West

In the face of a pointed letter from Mayor Ragsdale and B. Graham West, city comptroller, insisting on immediate formulation and adoption of a budget for operation of city schools, the board of education Tuesday afternoon voted 10 to 2 for indefinite postponement of such action.

The board's decision against precipitate adoption of a budget alleged to be $500,000 short of the needs of the school system left administrative control of school expenditures in the hands of the committee composed of the mayor, Comptroller West and M.
Y. Burns, chairman of the board.

Teachers Get Pay Thursday.

While pay checks for the latter half of March will be distributed among teachers and other school employes Thursday, having already been drawn and signed, the action of the board in deerring adoption of a definite budget leaves future pay roll distribution entirely in the discretion of the mayor and the comptroller, who have a majority voice in the three-cornered administrative committee. Although the joint letter from the two city officials contained no threat of a "hold up" of expenditures in event their request was not met, it was pointed out by Dr. Burns that he constituted an ineffectual minority on the administrative committee in case the mayor or comptroller decided to enforce their stand for immediate action by the board on the budget. The three officers of the board have all been in the office of the school system since the first week of January, when the school board found that the allocation of funds by council would fall half a million dollars short of their scheduled requirements for 1930.

Action to defer indefinitely formulation of a plan of budget was voted when Commissioner J. Ira Harrelson moved to postpone such adoption until a special committee composed of Alderman E. A. Gilliam and Commissioner Mr. Burns, and Mr. Harrelson, the chairman of the board, had thoroughly exhausted all efforts to stimulate public interest to the extent that the needed $500,000 could be raised by the city.

Some of the board members declined to take the matter to the board until the next regular meeting, which is slated for next Tuesday, and also for a two-week period, but Mr. Harrelson and Mr. Harrelson argued that the special committee might not have time to work effectively within that short a period.

At the outset of the meeting, which was called by Dr. Burns following receipt of the letter from Mayor Ragsdale and Comptroller West, the chairman of the board declared that in his opinion to adopt the deficiency budget as cut by council would thrust upon the board the prospect of curtailing operation of the usual school system of operating the schools until September 1 and then placing school teachers and other expenses on a 50 per cent work compensation basis, or of going ahead and agreeing on a decrease in salaries and carry on the school term until the money was exhausted.

Dr. Burns also called attention of the board to the condition of heating plants in a large number of city schools, describing the situation as one of the outstanding needs. Repair work on the foot-ropes yesterday cost approximately $75,000, and he urged the members in considering the distribution of any budget plan they may adopt to take the heating problem into consideration as a major item.

The meeting Tuesday was adjourned with the understanding that when the special committee has exhausted its means of raising the necessary $500, 000 a special meeting will be called,
at which time the board will be governed largely by the special body's recommendations.

Hawks Air Caravan Lands at Sweetwater

SWEETWATER, Texas, April 1.— (UN)—Undaunted by misfortune work on his foot-ropes yesterday and delayed him 24 hours, Captain Frank M. Hawks, flying from constant to constant in his glider "Bagel," landed here today at 7:20 p. m. (eastern standard time).

The glider was cut loose from the towship at an altitude of 2,000 feet.
While he swung over the field 15 minutes, Whirling a crowd of 5,000, a giant buzzard which joined the air caravan early today at Tucson, Ariz., circled above the glider.

El Paso, Texas, at 11:40 a. m. He stopped at Midland, Texas, late this afternoon and made the 150-mile flight from there in less than an hour and a half.

BOYKIN WILL FIX
NEW BONDS TODAY FOR ACCUSED MEN

Announcement of True Bills Comes After Longest Session Held by Investigators.

EXTORTION IS LAID
TO WALTER TAYLOR

Indictment Contains Nine Counts; Other Four Men Must Face New Charges of Bribery.

Five additional indictments naming City Clerk Walter C. Taylor, Councilman William E. Saunders, Roy D. Warren, former member of the board of education, Bruce Barter, superintendent of the municipal garage and Alderman J. E. Turner were returned by the grand investigating grand jury late Tuesday night after one of the longest sessions in the entire five-months of the city hall probe.

All of those named in the true bills previously were indicted.

Taylor was indicted on a charge of extortion, the true bill containing nine counts. Saunders, chairman of the board of firemen's affairs, was indicted on two counts charging bribery while Warren also must face two counts of bribery and Dr. Turner and Baxter, indicted jointly, face similar charges.

No bond for the new accusations was fixed Tuesday night. Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, who announced that the five named in the true bills, who already are under bond on other charges, would again be taken into custody today and additional bonds fixed.

The indictments were returned before Judge John D. Humphries.
Fletcher J. Sprattling, deputy clerk in charge of the criminal division of the Fulton superior court, received the bills.

EXTORTION IS CHARGED
TO WALTER TAYLOR.

City Clerk Taylor was directly charged with extortion on nine counts.
The true bill alleges that on nine different occasions the city clerk "by force and against the law" extorted various persons, though the indictment does not set out what the alleged extortion fees were paid for.
Some of the offenses are years old,
the one of them dating back to 1

KAPPA SIGMA TO OPEN MEETING HERE FRIDAY

Members of the active chapters of the Kappa Sigma fraternity will hold a district convocation in Atlanta Friday and Saturday of this week. Delegates will attend from chapters at Georgia School of Technology, University of Georgia, Emory University, University of Alabama, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, University of Florida and Mercer University.

This district comprises the work in three states, Georgia, Alabama and Florida and is under the supervision of William L. Beyer, Jr., as district grand master. The chapter at the Georgia School of Technology will act as host for this convention and all business sessions will be held at the Tech Chapter House at 830 Spring street, N. W.

The first session will be a luncheon meeting at the Piedmont Hotel at noon Friday at which time the Atlanta Alumni Association of Kappa Sigmas will entertain the visiting delegates. The first business meeting will follow immediately after this luncheon at the chapter house. There will be further business sessions on Saturday morning and afternoon.

George R. Roa, worthy grand treasurer of the National Fraternity, of Bay Saint Louis, Miss., will be in attendance at the convocation and take active part in the discussions and also will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be given at the Tavern Tea Room Saturday night by the alumni and active chapter members.

Society Sees Domesticity Learn "Code of Ethics"

NO LONGER MAY MAID LEAVE HER MISTRESS "FLAT"

If the maid jumps her job an hour before guests arrive, she's not only quitting—she's violating her code of ethics.

She's going to have a code of ethics from now on, Atlanta society learned Tuesday when it turned out for the formal opening of Dixie's first school for negro domestics.

Society nodded its approval when it learned that the maid and butler are going scientific, even to bed making, and almost broke into cheers when it discovered that one of the prime objectives of the institution will be to instill into servants the principles of responsibility.

They will be taught that it is not fair to their employers to quit without notice, and will be instructed in principles of honesty so that if the maid wants a handful of flour to make waffles, it will not be necessary to go to the mistress for the keys.

Ushered into a model home, whose furnishings have been selected with a view to pleasing the most exacting housewife, the society women saw a place where servants may be trained in the intricate details of housework, go hence and do their work with satisfaction.

This school, sponsored by the Atlanta community employment service and backed by the Julius Rosenwald foundation to the extent of $25,000, is also supported by a similar amount raised locally. Competent negro instructors are employed and the school is open to all domestics without cost.

It is here that maids will be taught the correct way to make beds, sweep floors, plan meals according to the season, sew on buttons and care for children. If visitors call, they will know how to make them comfortable while madame is putting on the finishing touches, or if the children get into a row, they can settle that because they will be taught elementary child psychology.

Students entering the training school start at once to learn actual housework. Much practice and little theory in the plan. The instructor demonstrates the correct way of making beds, tears up her works and allows the student to try it. After a few trials, if she is apt at learning, she is given new work, or allowed to teach other students.

One of the big problems, one of their instructors said, is to show students how little they know about housework when they come to the school. When a girl goes out to work, the sponsors desire that she shall be able to carry on without having to be told how to do everything, hence the detailed course of study.

In addition, a course for male servants in butlering and chauffering will be offered. Men will be taught how to tend furnaces, care for lawns and trim hedges, as well as the more delicate mannerisms in connection with their duties of opening doors, serving guests and driving the family car.

While the formal opening was held Tuesday, the school has been in operation about two weeks and there are 33 students enrolled.

Police Establish Record in March, Recover 231 Cars

Atlanta's police department set up a new high record in March when they recovered 32 more automobiles than were reported lost during the month. While only 190 were lost or stolen during the month, officers recovered 231.

This high percentage for March, coupled with four recovered Tuesday, April 1, gives the theft squad, headed by Detectives L. H. Satterfield and George F. Barrett a record of 100 plus for the first quarter of 1936, as compared with a percentage record of 97.7 for 1935.

Among the four cars recovered Tuesday was the town sedan stolen Monday night from Adjutant General Homer Parker. This car was found, out of gas, at Broyles street and St. Charles avenue and in it were a dozen eggs in a grocery sack. Detectives at

GEORGE WILL ATTEND TARIFF CONFERENCE

Will Be Ex-Officio Member To Carry Fight for Simmons.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(Special.)—Through the insistence of Senator Earnest M. Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking democratic member of the senate finance committee, Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, has been made a sort of ex-officio member of the senate conferees on the tariff bill.

Ordinarily only two conference places would go to democrats of the upper chamber, and these to the two ranking members of the finance committee—Senator Simmons, himself, a former chairman, and Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi. Due to ill health of the North Carolina senator, however, he asked that the Georgia senator, occupying the fourth ranking position, be allowed to sit in on the conference also.

Senator George will thus participate in the long-drawn-out discussion between the house and the senate over the adjustment of differences in the two bills passed by the upper and lower chambers, respectively, although he will not be allowed to vote.

The house and senate conferees are expected to consummate at least two months in agreeing on a report.

Once went to the store at Tenth and Crescent, which had been held up Monday night, and identified the sack. Police think that the same bandits who held up the manager stole General Parker's car.

Of the 231 cars recovered during March, 196 were found by Detectives Satterfield and Barrett. Detectives J. A. McKibben and S. A. Smith, with 26 recoveries to their credit, were second.

The plurality of cars recovered over those stolen include both cars reported lost in the previous month and cars stolen in other towns which are not reported direct to the detective bureau here.

Revival at Woodlawn To Close Sunday Night

Special religious service which began in the Woodlawn Presbyterian Church Sunday, March 23, will come to a close Sunday night.

Today's program will consist of three services: 10 a. m.—an exposition of the 91 Psalm; 2:30 p. m.—prayer service for women only and 8:00 p. m.—evangelistic services. Subject: "Let the Wicked Forsake His Way."

Dr. Gillan is doing the preaching at all services, assisted by Peter Marshall, soloist and song leader. The pastor, Rev. Wriston Hartnell, said Tuesday that he was much pleased with the result of the meetings.

82,000 MEN

a day are scrapping their old razors for the New Gillette

New Razor
no pulling

The New Gillette Razor, 24K. gold plated, in beautiful case, complete with New Gillette Blade. Price $1.00
Other De Luxe models at $5.00 to $75.00

ONE hundred and ten million men have used a Gillette Razor for years and maintained that it was the most efficient shaving instrument ever made. They were right.

Yet these men are scrapping their old Gillette Razors by the scores of thousands today. And again they are right.

In designing this new blade and razor, Gillette engineers interviewed 27,000 men, examined tens of thousands of used razors.

They found the cause of "razor pull"—found it in nicked and dented corners resulting from dropping the razor. These dents were enough to throw the blade out of alignment, to spoil a perfect shave.

What Gillette engineers did was to reinforce each corner of the new razor cap with heavy metal lugs. Then they cut out all four corners of the blade so that it is not held at these corners when cap and guard clamp together. Now even if you should happen to drop the new Gillette no harm is done; the blade maintains its perfect alignment and "pulling" is prevented.

The new blade is made of processed steel to resist rust. When finished shaving, simply turn blade and guard at right angles. Then re-tighten. Hold under hot running water—shake thoroughly, and leave on the shelf to dry. A great time and towel saver.

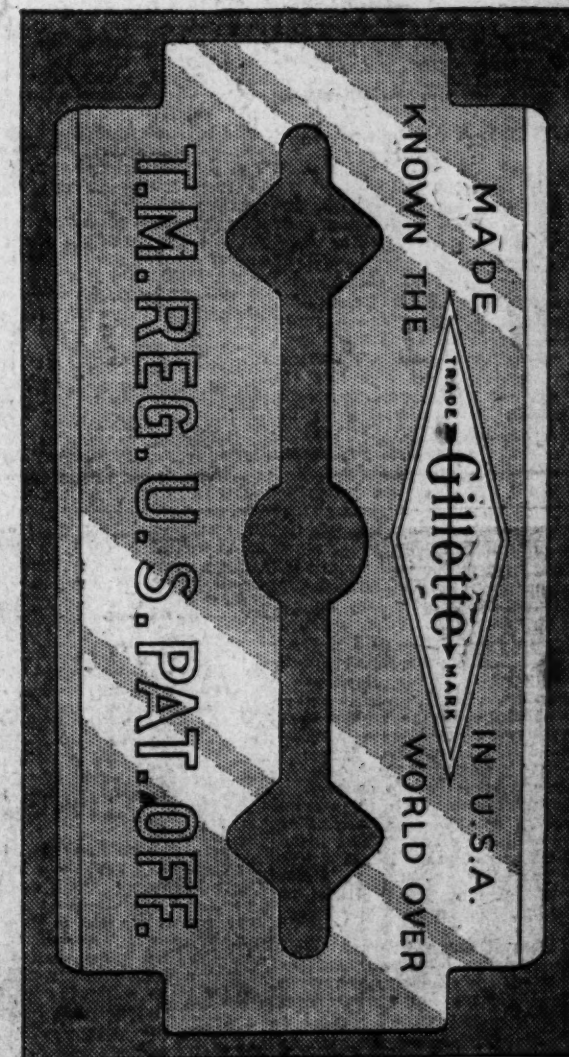

At almost every store you can get the New Gillette Razor, 24K. gold plated, supplied with one new blade and packed in a good-looking case, for only one dollar; also the New Gillette Blade in the new green packet which costs one dollar for ten, and fifty cents for the package of five.

Don't wait any longer to enjoy the most comfortable shave you've ever had in your life. Stop at your dealer's today.

BRUENING DRIVES REICHSTAG TO WORK

Gets Dissolution Order and Tells Solons They Must Legislate or Quit.

BERLIN, April 1.—(AP)—Dr. Heinrich Brüning, the new German chancellor, today stood with a decree of dissolution in his pocket and told the reichstag Germany needed work—not words—and action—not argument. The chancellor so served notice that his cabinet was determined to operate on these principles, and a threat of dissolution was implied if the reichstag does not fall in line. Dr. Brüning has been authorized by President Von Hindenburg to dissolve parliament and conduct the government under Article 48 of the constitution should the reichstag give a vote of nonconfidence. His was a short and punchy ministerial declaration, bristling with confidence. The bespectacled, scholarly chancellor, with a steady voice and a square jaw, was plentifully interrupted and jeered by communists as he stressed the need of immediate passage of financial reform measures, but the remainder of the house listened attentively. Occasional applause came from the center and the right. The communists also introduced a motion of nonconfidence, as had been expected, but observers do not believe it will carry when the reichstag meets again tomorrow noon.

'Passive Resistance' Leads to Five Deaths

CALCUTTA, India, April 1.—(AP)—Five men were killed in rioting today which followed a passive resistance demonstration against enforcement of a new rule restraining carters from taking out buffaloes during the hottest hours of the day.

One Hindu was killed when police fired on a large crowd of carters who had gathered at the Calcutta end of Howry bridge. The crowd threw bricks at the police and injured three sergeants. Four more were killed in rioting in this region. The district between Howry bridge and Harrison road presented the aspect of a battle scene and the streets were jammed with abandoned carts, many overturned and minus wheels. A tense atmosphere prevailed over the area and groups of natives gathered at various spots. A procession carrying black flags with defiant inscriptions appeared in some of the streets.

CITY WILL ABANDON I. N. RAGSDALE PARK

Borough Proposes To Lease John A. White and Chosewood Properties.

The borough of Atlanta Tuesday took the first steps to surrender the I. N. Ragdsdale park, known as the Perkerson estate and consisting of about 420 acres of land in the southern section of Atlanta, when members of the parks' committee prepared to submit a paper to the finance committee of council asking that a quit claim deed be given the Perkerson heirs in return for the $390,000 worth of Atlanta notes which are held in connection with the deal.

Atlanta also will give quit claim deeds to original owners of the John A. White and the Chosewood parks and then open negotiations for leasing the two latter strips. No effort will be made to retain the Perkerson tract, which has been a storm center since it was purchased more than two years ago, and which precipitated a councilmanic investigation resulting in resignation of former Councilman Charles M. Ford, who admitted he had received a part of the $200,000 which Fulton county paid heirs. The $200,000 is all that has been paid, and the borough owes $390,000 plus interest. Courts have held that the borough cannot buy park properties on a deferred payment plan, and therefore, the move to return it to the heirs has been made. Councilman Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the finance committee, Tuesday said that he believed that that body would sanction the proposal to return the Perkerson tract and that the paper would go to council Monday with a favorable recommendation.

LOUISIANA PLANTER KILLS WIFE AND SELF

SHREVEPORT, La., April 1.—(AP)—E. Burleigh Yearwood, 35 years old, farmer, of prominent family, on arising today from his bed shot and fatally wounded his wife, the daughter of F. F. Webb, a planter, of Lucas, La., and took his own life.

The tragedy occurred in their home at Belcher, 20 miles from here, where Yearwood was operating a plantation in partnership with Dr. T. B. Tooke, physician of Belcher. Coroner Willis P. Butler, of Caddo parish, investigated the tragedy and expressed the belief that Yearwood shot his wife and the committed suicide because of financial worries. Yearwood died without regaining consciousness soon after medical aid arrived, and his wife died while being carried to the hospital. Seven-year-old Dorris Yearwood, their only child, frightened by the firing, fled from the house to the cabin of Robert Williams, a negro plantation employee, who found Yearwood lying on the bedroom floor with a bullet wound in his head, and Mrs. Yearwood slumped in her chair with a shot through her temple. Both were in their night clothes. The pistol with which the couple were killed was on the floor in a pool of blood. Yearwood was a member of a prominent South Caddo parish family and moved to the Belcher neighborhood about two years ago to manage the plantation in partnership with Dr. Tooke. He was the son of Mrs. George Yearwood, widow, of Shreveport. The dead woman's father was formerly a member of the Caddo police jury.

MAYOR SHOTS EDITOR, THEN KILLS SELF

YAZOO CITY, Miss., April 1.—(AP)—A town feud between Mayor J. O. Stricklin and an editor resulted today in the shooting down of F. R. Birdsall, editor of the Yazoo Sentinel, and the suicide of Mayor J. O. Stricklin.

Dr. R. E. Hawkins, third point of the triangle of enmity, narrowly escaped the blazing gun of the mayor with a bullet through the tail of his coat. Eye-witnesses said Dr. Hawkins and Mayor Stricklin were standing on Main street talking when Editor Birdsall turned the corner. As the editor approached, the mayor said: "Well, I might as well have it out with you fellows now." With that he pulled his revolver and pointed it at the dentist, but he darted up a nearby stairway and caught the bullet in his coat. The mayor then fired point-blank at the editor, twice in quick succession. The editor collapsed to the ground, and while he lay there bleeding, witnesses said, the mayor fired a third shot.

Then Mayor Stricklin calmly walked to his automobile and drove to his son's undertaking establishment. There, among the coffins, he ended his life by firing the fifth bullet through his head. Policemen, in hot pursuit, came upon his body. The editor was taken to the hospital, where scant hope was held for his recovery, as two bullets found their marks, one passing through his abdomen. Townspeople, split by the feud between the prominent citizens, had expected an outbreak since the mayoralty election in which Mayor Stricklin defeated Dr. Hawkins, who had the support of Mr. Birdsall's tri-weekly newspaper. The campaign brought out old scores, including the indictment, in May, 1929, against Mayor Stricklin on the charge of calf-stealing, on which he later was acquitted. The mayor was 57 years old; the editor is 65, and the dentist 45.

Large Tells Views On Postoffice Site

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(Special)—Fourth Assistant Postmaster General John W. Philp and Postmaster Edwin K. Large, of Atlanta, went into conference this morning with officials and representatives of the Atlanta Terminal company over the proposed site for Atlanta's new $2,000,000 postoffice building. Mr. Philp and Mr. Large stated to the terminal representatives what they required in the way of a site and required for the railroad officials to consider the matter in executive session. R. B. Pegram, president of the Terminal company and a vice president of the Southern railway, Charles A. Wickersham, president of the A. and W. P. R. R., and a director of the Terminal company, and A. E. Clift, president of the Central Georgia, and another director of the Terminal company, were here for the conference. R. H. Otis, Atlanta realtor, is representing the terminal in negotiation of the site.

ELKS' HOTEL FLOOR ORDERED PADLOCKED

BOSTON, April 1.—(AP)—Judge Ellisha Brewster in federal court today ordered padlocked for one year a mezzanine floor in the Elks' hotel, where federal prohibition agents recently raided a barroom and cafe. He also ordered the Elks' Hotel Company and the Boston Lodge Number 10, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, to post $1,000 bond against liquor violations on another floor, with the understanding that a single violation would result in a similar padlock there.

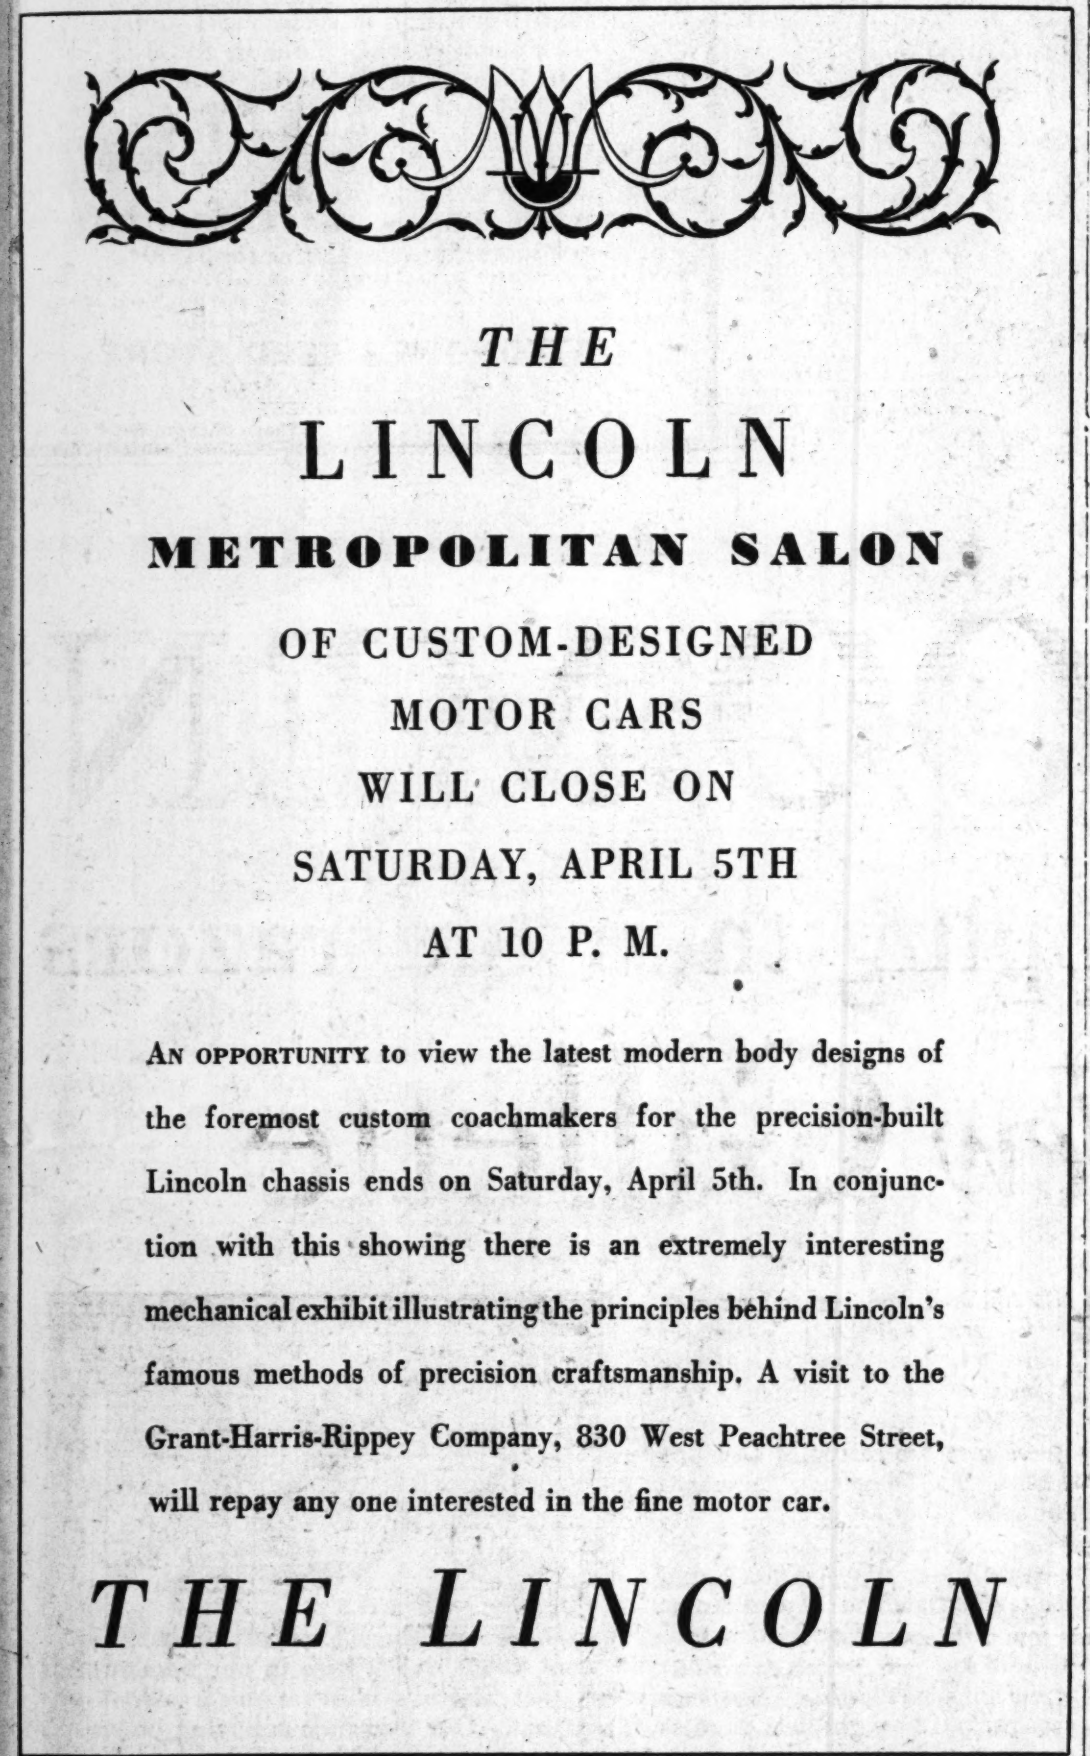

FORT MYERS BANKER NAMED ROTARY HEAD

SARASOTA, Fla., April 1.—(AP)—F. Irving Holmes, Fort Myers banker, was named district governor of the thirty-ninth district, Rotary International, at the closing sessions of the eighth annual conference here today.

He was named without opposition, other respective candidates having withdrawn overnight. Winter Haven, Jacksonville and Miami presented invitations for the 1931 conference. West Palm Beach withdrew from the fight early today. The actual selection of the conference city will be made within 30 days by the district governor and his board.

Every Headache Is a Warning

What is a headache? Physicians tell us that headache is "the cry of overtaxed nerves for rest." The cause of simple headache is high nerve tension or strain, which leads to high blood pressure and serious injury to the nervous system. The next time you have a headache, neuralgic or rheumatic pains, or periodic pains, try the improved method of relief—two teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water. Being liquid, Capudine gives relief almost instantly—much quicker than tablets or powders. It relieves by soothing the tense nerves—not by deadening them. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach, therefore is the ideal remedy. For over thirty years Capudine has been bringing relief to those who suffer from nervous pains. You, too, will find it a joy and comfort when your nerves are unstrung and when you suffer from pain. At drug stores in 30c and 60c sizes.—(adv.)

The PRICE of SAFE MILK

PEDIGREE DAIRIES

TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Grade "A" Raw Milk is higher than Grade "A" Pasteurized

COMPARATIVELY few people are familiar with what proper pasteurization of a daily large volume of milk means in modern equipment and scrupulous care, such as Pedigree Dairies employs.

Proper milk Pasteurizing as rigidly adhered to at our $300,000 Atlanta plant assures the highest degree of protection to the consumer which today's scientific safeguards provide.

The clean fresh milk from tuberculin tested Georgia dairy herds is first heated to 142 to 145 degrees Fahrenheit. Science has determined that this temperature practically destroys all disease germs. After being held at this temperature for 30 minutes the milk is cooled quickly, bottled without being touched by human hands or being subjected to other contamination.

After bottling, the milk is kept at a temperature cold enough to prevent germ growth and in this condition, safe and wholesome, it is delivered to your home or to the hundreds of retail stores which sell it in Atlanta.

All employees who handle Pedigree Dairies apparatus or milk, undergo regular medical examination to further guard the purity and safety of our grade "A" Pasteurized Milk.

Why Grade "A" Raw Milk Costs More

Realizing the great care and expense involved in the production of our grade "A" Pasteurized Milk, one naturally asks why grade "A" Raw Milk costs more.

The reason is this. To meet a certain demand by people who prefer grade "A" Raw Milk we produce it, but it involves extra transportation expense and extra supervision over many smaller units at the farms.

Our grade "A" Raw Milk supply is bottled at Georgia dairy farms which maintain the same extremely high standards insisted upon for the production of our grade "A" Pasteurized Milk.

Our bottles must be shipped to these various farms each day where careful supervision must be exercised to be positive of their proper sterilization. The bottled milk is properly iced for daily shipment.

It is this increased expense of daily transportation and necessary equipment at the farms which are the greatest factors in making the cost of grade "A" Raw Milk slightly higher than that of grade "A" Pasteurized.

You Can Have Pedigree Milk Home Delivered Before Breakfast

All Leading Authorities Give Full Endorsement to PASTEURIZED MILK

Following are brief extracts from statements by leading authorities relative to Properly Pasteurized Milk.

Dr. Charles H. Mayo, world famous surgeon, "Pasteurization does make unsafe milk SAFE."

Life Extension Institute, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, "We have one simple method of making milk safe—pasteurization."

Dr. Milton J. Rosenau, of Harvard University, "Pasteurization saves lives and prevents sickness. It does not injure the quality of the milk in any way."

Dr. Charles E. North, world renowned milk expert, N. Y., "Pasteurization is positively necessary for all milk for the sake of safety."

Nathan Straus, the great authority on milk for children, "There has never been a milk-borne epidemic on record where the milk was properly pasteurized."

Dr. John D. Robertson, formerly Health Officer of Chicago, "Complete Pasteurization of Chicago's milk supply has effected a saving of the lives of three hundred thousand babies each year."

Dr. M. P. Ravenel, former president of the American Public Health Association, "The growth-promoting vitamin is not affected by pasteurization—the most recent publication gives exactly the same vitamin content for pasteurized milk as for fresh cow's milk in the summer. Any argument based on the danger of the destruction of vitamin C by pasteurization is fallacious."

CLERKSHIP ASPIRANTS SPEAK BEFORE VOTERS

Rally Held at Lucile Avenue School in Interest of Simmons' Candidacy.

With the election one week from today, first blood in the race for clerk of Fulton county superior court was drawn Tuesday night at a rally at the Lucile Avenue school in the interest of the candidacy of J. Walter Simmons.

Every one of the aspirants in the four-cornered contest, with the exception of Bob Church, spoke or was represented at the session, and the affair turned into a mutual admiration meeting in comparison with the hectic primary campaign, following which three commissioners were nominated on March 19.

Ivan Cochran, school commissioner from the newly created 13th ward, and a member of the Simmons ticket, was the first speaker called to the rostrum by Howard F. White, presiding and another member of the Simmons ticket.

R. J. Davidson, another of the aspirants, was the next speaker, and outlined his plan. He declared he feels that the only job open is the clerk's post and that he has no ticket. He denied rumors that he was placed in the race by James M. George, a third aspirant, "to split the vote."

"I got into this race just because I want the job and because I did not like the fact that Fulton county commissioners failed to name Al Dunn, the logical successor of the late Thomas Miller," Mr. Davidson said. "There is nothing to the charge that I am a blind placed in this race to divert votes from other candidates. James M. George is a good friend of mine. So are Mr. Simmons and Mr. Church. I am running this race for myself and for no one else."

"The people of Fulton county are concerned with efficiency in that office and they have a right to demand it," Al Henson, speaking for Mr. George said. "I have never heard a criticism of the way the office is conducted. If any other candidate with the exception of Mr. George is named there are 47 efficient employees of that office who will be without jobs. I am pleading for them more than I am for Mr. George."

"We are conducting this race on a clean basis," Mr. Simmons declared. "I feel that the commissioners should have named a natural successor or should have taken into account the fact that more than 20,000 registered voters expressed a preference for me in a race in which Mr. Miller defeated me by a small margin six years ago."

Oscar Starnes, another member of the Simmons ticket, also spoke a few words, calling on his friends to support the Simmons candidacy.

Local Red Cross To Re-establish Annual Roll Call

Individual membership in the Atlanta chapter of the American Red Cross will be re-established, following a number of years' operation without such membership and in conjunction with the Atlanta Community Chest, according to an announcement Tuesday by George K. Selden, chairman of the local chapter. To this end, a membership roll call, such as formerly was annually held, will take place during April, in order to afford an opportunity for interested Atlantans to renew their affiliation with the Atlanta chapter and the national organization.

Upon the formation of the Atlanta Community Chest several years ago, according to Mr. Selden, the plan was tried experimentally of making the Atlanta chapter of the Red Cross a part of this organization, as other such organizations are, regarding contributors to the Community Chest as automatically members of the Red Cross, and carrying on the program of the Atlanta chapter with funds derived from the funds of the Community Chest in common with other social and charitable organizations in the city.

"This plan has been tried for a number of years, and while it has many features to recommend it," said Mr. Selden, "it does not take care of the peculiar necessity in the Red Cross organization to maintain its own membership."

"The American Red Cross, as a national and as a local organization, is essentially one composed of its voluntary membership. For the most part its funds are derived from its membership fees, but far more valuable to the organization, and to the country which it serves, is the voluntary service which its members render in carrying out the work to which it is committed."

$4,100 To Be Spent On Seven Projects

Four sewer improvements totaling $4,100 to be financed from the 1928 sewer bond issue were approved Tuesday afternoon by the sewer committee of council and will go to the bond commission and to council Monday.

Two lateral sewers also were approved and a mass of routine matters were considered by the committee. Bond issue projects sanctioned by the committee follow: $1,500 for construction of a storm water sewer in West View drive to the trunk sewer on Abbott street; $1,100 for construction of the Emerson street sanitary outfall; $800 for construction of an outfall in Bryant street north to the Southern railway cut; and $700 for construction of the Flat Shoals avenue storm water sewer.

BILL WOULD REWARD ARTISTIC SOLDIERS

WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—The literary or artistic bent of the American doughboy as distinguished from his talent at bearing arms and dealing death would be rewarded under a bill introduced by Representative Mosswain, of South Carolina.

The measure would create a soldier's medal of merit, available to any officer or enlisted man of the army "who shall render any conspicuous and outstanding service to the cause of science or literature or art to the cause of world peace, or toward promoting the efficiency and economy of the national defense."

Another decoration, the soldier's hero medal, to those saving government property or the lives of others at the risk of their own.

Oil Gusher Roars Unchecked As Weary Workers Retreat

All Vegetation Killed by Mist Falling as Far Away as 14 Miles; Planes Barred.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 1.—(UN)—A fortune in oil and gas roared unchecked from a geyser in the heart of the South City field tonight. It killed vegetation for miles around, caused farmers and workmen to flee like refugees before a foreign army and endangered the entire field with the threat of fire.

Attempts to stop the flow the giant Mary Sudik well were abandoned shortly before dusk, and workmen, worn out after five days of laboring waist deep in oil, retreated from the field. Nerves of many were shattered after working under the fierce rain of oil and gas. They babbled incoherently of their families who were taken from the fields last night by officials of Indian Territory illuminating Oil Company, owners of the well.

A majority of the workers lost their belongings when trucks and carts sent into the area became mired in the thick layer of slimy oil and grease which covered the roads.

Airplanes were ordered to stay away from the field tonight. A uniformed guard was posted by Sheriff Stanley Rogers.

An exhaust spark from an airplane would set the 200-foot column of gas and oil afire while a lighted cigarette might cause tremendous damage. The field, covered by the spray from the well, is saturated with gas and oil. Gas hangs in clouds in the ravines. Pools of oil have collected in many low places.

The spray from the well covered the fields of farmers as far distant as Norman, University Town, 14 miles to the south, and to Oklahoma City, 14 miles to the northwest.

None was permitted in the field today and operations of 125 wells in the big field were halted.

Officials of Indian Illuminating Company estimated 2,000,000 gallons of oil had been discharged by the geyser. Some was salvaged in temporary tanks, but the majority was lost. Owners of other wells built earthen bulwarks about their properties in an effort to protect them.

Housewives in the south part of Oklahoma City complained because of the oil mist which destroyed their gardens and ruined their household linens.

Efforts to recap the well will not be made until the pressure diminishes, company officials said. The steel collar which held the gusher within bonds for a short period yesterday was ground to pieces by the abnormal pressure.

Methodist Stewards Hear Marvin Williams

An address by the Rev. Marvin Williams, pastor of the Barnesville Methodist Church, and a tribute, read by the secretary, to the late Dr. A. J. Sharp, featured the quarterly meeting of the Atlanta Methodist Stewards Association Tuesday night at the Trinity Methodist Church, corner Washington and Trinity avenue.

About 300 stewards from the churches in the North and South Atlanta districts were in attendance. Music was furnished by the Trinity Church choir. The next meeting of the association will be held at the Bolton church.

Walter N. Gallaher Heads Civic League

Walter N. Gallaher was selected for a third consecutive time by unanimous vote of the Fourth Ward Civic Association as president of that body at the annual election held Tuesday night at the clubhouse at Piedmont Park.

S. E. Stephens was named vice president; J. Q. Waters, secretary, and Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, corresponding secretary.

The association is one of the largest civic organizations of the ward, and has sponsored many successful projects for improvement of that section.

New Night Air Mail Service For Atlanta Is Inaugurated

750 Pounds of Mail Carried by Planes of Eastern Air Transport and Interstate Airlines.

The final link in the chain of direct air communication between the United States and South America was forged about midnight Tuesday with the inauguration of night air mail service from Miami to Atlanta, connecting with new overnight planes for New York and Chicago. The lines involved are Eastern Air Transport, Inc., operators of the Atlanta-Miami and Atlanta-New York air mail routes and Interstate Airlines, Inc., operators of the Atlanta-Chicago line.

"Slim" Thomas, well-known eastern air pilot, arrived at Candler field from Jacksonville on schedule at 11:15 o'clock Tuesday night, bringing 518 pounds of mail in his Super-Mailing, and as soon as his cargo was sorted, E. A. T. and Interstate planes took off for New York and Chicago, respectively.

Despite the lateness of the hour, many Atlantans visited the airport to witness the dawn of a new era in Atlanta's air mail history, and numbers of automobiles, ranged around the field, furthered the work of the floodlight at the airport by their own headlights.

Flowers, sent to the members of the aviation committee of city council by Eastern Air Transport, Inc., were received at the field by the wires of the members of the body, while near by, their motors roaring and their propellers whirling, were straining against their wheel checks.

Carries 400 Pounds. Don Johnston, Eastern Air Transport pilot, carrying approximately 400 pounds of mail, much of it from South American points, took off at 12:20 o'clock this morning, bound for New York. At almost exactly the same time, W. Lawrence Jamieson, chief pilot for Interstate Airlines, Inc., with 350 pounds of mail tucked away in the mail compartment of his big Stearman, took off and headed for Chicago. Johnston, with a tail-wind of 63 miles an hour at 3,000 feet, was expected to establish something approaching a record for his leg of the Atlanta-New York route.

The schedules, which went into effect Tuesday night, besides forming an international link, marked one of the most important developments in rapid air service between the south, east and middle west. It now is possible to air mail a letter at Miami, Tampa, Jacksonville, St. Petersburg, Orlando, Macon and other points along the route and have it delivered early the following morning, either in New York or Chicago.

Charlotte, N. C., was made a stop for the first time on the Atlanta-New York run. With the addition of the new service, Eastern Air Transport, Inc., climbs to third place in scheduled daily mileage for companies operating air mail lines in the United States.

Shuttle Service. In addition to its new night service, Interstate Airlines, Inc., today will inaugurate daily shuttle service between Atlanta and Sky Harbor, Murrellsboro, Tenn., which serves as Nashville's field for the system. Geo. Fricks, veteran Interstate pilot, who arrived here Tuesday afternoon in a Fairchild "71" cabin monoplane, with three passengers, at 9:25 o'clock this morning will open the shuttle service. In addition to his mail cargo, he will carry his three passengers, James Stallman, owner of the Nashville Banner; George Burdick, owner of the Murrellsboro Home Journal, and Tom Ridley, manager of the Interstate Field at Murrellsboro, back to the Tennessee field.

The double schedule on the Atlanta-New York line called for departure of the first southbound plane from New York at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, with arrival in Atlanta at 10:55 o'clock Tuesday night. The second southbound plane was scheduled to leave New York at 9 o'clock last night, with arrival at Candler field at 4:55 o'clock this morning. Northbound planes will leave Candler field at 7 o'clock and 11:45 o'clock each night, with arrival at Macon at 9:15 o'clock and at Jacksonville at 11:25 o'clock, respectively.

Chicago Schedule. The Atlanta-Chicago schedule provides for a southbound plane to leave Chicago at 9:30 p. m. and arrive in Atlanta at 5:10 a. m. The northbound plane leaves Atlanta at midnight and reaches Chicago at 7:35 a. m.

The E. A. T. air mail plane leaves Miami at 5:30 p. m. and arrives at Daytona Beach at 8 p. m. and makes connection there with a plane which leaves St. Petersburg at 5:15 p. m.

This latter plane stops at Tampa at 5:30 p. m., Orlando at 6:30 p. m. and arrives at Daytona Beach at 7:05 p. m. The air mail leaves Jacksonville at 8:05, reaches Jacksonville at 9:15, stops at Macon at 11:25 and reaches Candler field, Atlanta, at 11:15 p. m., central time.

Southbound, the plane leaves Atlanta at 5:45 a. m., Macon at 7:40 a. m., Jacksonville at 10 a. m., arrives at Daytona Beach at 11 a. m., leaves at 11:05 a. m. and arrives at Miami at 1:45 p. m.

Connecting with this plane is another plane which leaves Daytona Beach at 11:05 a. m., Orlando at 11:45 a. m., Tampa at 12:50 p. m. and arrives at St. Petersburg at 1:15 p. m.

Ship in Distress. LONDON, April 1.—(AP)—Lloyds reported tonight that a tug was proceeding from Cohn and another from the Azores to the assistance of the steamer Bismarck of the Holland-America line, which lost her rudder post and rudder position and was drifting southwards in a decreasing northerly gale.

HOUSE RETURNS TO TARIFF TODAY

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER, Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, April 1.—(AP)—The house will return to the tariff bill tomorrow for the first time in almost a year, but only to go through the routine procedure of sending it to conference with the senate.

The house rules committee presented a resolution today to disagree to all the some 1,250 senate amendments and request a conference with that branch. Republican leaders are confident of adoption of the proposal after several hours' debate.

The rule makes no provision for pre-conference votes on controversies between the two houses. Under a gentlemen's agreement between republican groups, however, the house conferees will be pledged not to agree in conference on the sugar, cement, lumber and single duties until the house has had an opportunity to go on record on these items.

In this connection, word was going the rounds today that the house when put to the test, probably would line up for the lower senate duties on sugar and cement and for free soft wood lumber and shingles. The house measure passed without a roll call on any of these individual items, carries higher sugar and cement rates, a duty of 25 per cent on shingles, now free, and no duty on soft wood lumber.

The senate bill leaves shingles free but places a levy of $1.50 a thousand board feet on lumber made from fir, spruce, pine, hemlock and larch.

Under another informal understanding the senate conferees will be pledged not to recede from the senate stand for the export debenture and for repeal of the presidential power to change customs duties, without first coming back to the senate for instructions.

These provisions were written into the bill by the senate coalition of democrats and republican independents over the opposition of President Hoover.

Together with the four rates singled out by the house republicans for separate votes, these six disputes are expected to furnish the principal difficulties for the conferees.

PASSENGERS UNHURT AS TRAIN IS DERAILED

JACKSON, Miss., April 1.—(AP)—A locomotive and three coaches of train 202 of the Illinois Central's Vicksburg route division were derailed late last night at Dixon, three miles west of here.

The train crew escaped with minor bruises and no passengers were hurt. The locomotive and one coach turned over.

The cause of the wreck was unknown. The train was proceeding slowly, having slowed down for a horse on the track.

"Peanuts" Love, an oil well driller, fell and broke an arm while examining the wreck through curiosity.

Fair Weather To Continue, Forecast Says

Continued fair and warmer weather is on tap for Atlanta and vicinity today, according to the latest forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, who has apparently arranged ideal conditions for the start of the census.

Clear skies and a beaming sun will remain in evidence, he states, and the mercury is scheduled to do its ranging between the figures of 50 and 70. Tuesday's extremes were 48 and 65.

NEW INDICTMENTS VOTED BY JURORS

which he is alleged to have "collected" $100.

The true bill against Warren alleges that he got from H. L. Galloway two season tickets to the Georgia Tech football games of 1927, valued at $52.50 for using his influence in purchasing from a firm Galloway was out to the test, probably for the Adair school. The second count says that the same men paid the former member of the board of education $75 for "putting through" the purchase of a "load of bricks for the J. A. Goldsmith school."

TURNER AND BAXTER JOINTLY INDICTED

Turner and Baxter are jointly indicted, the true bill containing two counts. Both are named in the first count, but only Dr. Turner in the second.

The bill, in the first count, alleges the two took from the Federal Motor Truck Sales Corporation on September 4, 1928, a 1928 Chevrolet sedan for the purpose of obtaining the job of overhauling ten city trucks. The second count accuses the aidmen alone of obtaining $500 in cash.

Operations and management of the Grady hospital also were gone into by the grand jury Tuesday.

The chief witness before the grand jury Tuesday was former Councilman Charles W. Ford, of the tenth ward. He appeared late in the session and was before the inquisitorial body for some time. Ford resigned from the city council because of a threatened impeachment after his part in the transaction which resulted in the city's tentative purchase of the Perkerson tract had been investigated by a special councilman committee.

Chief among the other witnesses heard during the day was Steve H. Johnston, superintendent of the Grady hospital, who appeared with several members of his staff. A number of nurses and internes at the hospital go to some of them were heard, but others were excused until today.

NINE CHARGES MADE AGAINST CITY CLERK

The indictment returned against Walter C. Taylor, city clerk, contains nine counts charging extortion.

1. That he unlawfully accepted $300 from A. Pizanti which was not due him.

2. That he accepted $300 from Jake Jacobs which was not due him.

3. That he extorted $50 from James L. Pratts which was not due him.

4. That he took $250 from A. P. Calhoun, which was not due him.

5. That he accepted another $200 from Calhoun which was not due him.

6. That he "took" $200 from Fred C. Woodall, acting for and in behalf of R. L. York, which was not due him.

7. That he took $3,000 from J. H. Ewing, Jr., which was not due him.

8. That he took $500 from Marvin P. Roane, which was not due him.

9. That he took $500 from Carl Witt, which was not due him.

FOUR BRIBERY COUNTS MADE AGAINST SAUNDERS

Councilman W. E. Saunders was indicted on four counts of bribery.

The first count charges that Saunders received on September 26, 1929, from T. L. Taylor, of the Sanitary Day Cleaning Company, $200 as a present and reward given by Taylor to influence the official behavior of the accused in the discharge of his official duties. The indictment alleges that the present was given to influence Saunders' behavior in the matter of the adoption by council of a municipal ordinance entitled, "An ordinance providing for fire prevention and protection in connection with hazardous materials and processes."

Saunders was chairman of the board of firemasters, before which the proposed ordinance was pending, the true bill alleges.

The second count charges Saunders with receiving on August 13, 1927, a bribe of $100 from E. B. Respass, 2109 McLendon avenue, to influence Saunders' behavior in the matter of introducing and procuring adoption of resolutions by council remitting assessments against real estate belonging to Mrs. Pearl C. Respass on McLendon street at near Hampton Terrace, the assessments being for improvements to the property.

The third count charges Saunders with receiving $300 from the General Motors Truck Company as a present to influence his official behavior in the purchase by the city of six G. M. C. trucks for the sanitary department.

The true bill alleges that the offer was made on September 17, 1926, and that the present was given for his efforts in aiding and helping the corporation to get the order from the city.

The fourth count charges Saunders with receiving on March 21, 1928, from Charles M. Ford, $500 as a present to influence Saunders' official behavior in the matter of purchase by the city from Dan Perkerson et al. of the property known as the Thomas J. Perkerson estate, 420-877 acres.

The purpose was to obtain a bid by the corporation to furnish material and labor and overhaul and repair 10 Federal motor trucks of the city.

A second count against Dr. Turner alone charges that on September 4, 1928, Dr. Turner received $500 from the Federal Motor Truck Sales Corporation as a reward for obtaining acceptance by the city of a proposal and bid by the corporation to furnish material and labor and to overhaul and repair 10 Federal motor trucks of the city.

CHARGES OF BRIBERY AGAINST WARREN

The bill accusing Roy D. Warren of bribery alleges that he accepted three season tickets from H. L. Galloway to Georgia Tech football games which Galloway gave as a reward "to influence the official behavior of the accused in the matter of the purchase by the city of Atlanta of a load of brick for use in construction work at the Adair school."

A second count in the same bill charges that he "did attempt to receive unlawfully" from Galloway $75 in money as a present and reward to influence the official behavior of the accused in the matter of the purchase by the city of 50,000 brick from V. H. Krieshaber & Son.

MERGER TRENDS MEET OPPOSITION

BY HERBERT LITTLE, United News Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, April 1.—(UN)—The trend of big business to get bigger and bigger by the merger route met two obstacles in congress today.

Chairman Couzens of the senate Interstate Commerce Committee introduced a resolution which would block all the super-railroad plans now current, including the trans-continental rail empire of the Van Sweringen and the Baltimore and Ohio's ambitious expansion plans.

The resolution would suspend the Interstate Commerce Commission's authority to approve all mergers until congress has had time to safeguard the public interest. The resolution took occasion to note that the holding companies responsible in large part for concentrated ownership and control of scores of the nation's railroads is now under investigation by a house committee which will start hearings Saturday, with Interstate Commerce Commissioner Eastman on the stand.

Coming so closely after the American Federation of Labor denounced the Interstate Commerce Commission's consolidation plan, the move of Couzens was taken as presaging a delay if not a hindrance in the current consolidation trend.

Trust-Busting "Seen." Possible renewal of the "old-trust-busting" days of the Roosevelt administration was seen here in this and other similar but lesser manifestations, notably recurrent attacks on chain stores and serious congressional consideration of the necessity for further regulation of chain-banking.

Just the other day, the house, famed for its opposition to investigations, voluntarily added more than $100,000 to an appropriation bill to speed the Federal Trade Commission's chain store inquiry.

Today Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, opened an attack on the billion-dollar proposed merger of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, by introducing a resolution which would call on Attorney-General Mitchell to bring action to stop the consolidation of the industry and the government both are ignoring the anti-trust laws, he charged.

"The negotiations now going on in Youngstown are so brazen and so daring as to go back to the old days of Standard Oil activities in ruthless and unscrupulous manner," he said, "and also the stockholders' interest," the New Yorker added.

LaGuardia charged directors of the United States Steel Corporation, notably Samuel Mather, are actively engaged in promoting the Bethlehem-Youngstown merger, and that the aim was to "create a combination in restraint of trade."

His resolution is not believed to have much chance of success, due to the house's hesitancy to move so drastically. Friends of the Hoover administration in this connection point out that the justice department has outlined its policy of giving advisory opinions on mergers, approving or disapproving them under the anti-trust laws, and recall that Attorney-General Mitchell has just started a suit opposing the billion dollar Standard Oil merger.

Has Chance. Couzens' resolution is more likely to be considered, especially as he is chairman of the committee which considers all rail legislation, and he more looks up closely with the house investigation, which was undertaken on the suggestion of the commission. The commission now has no control over the great holding companies which buy up control of various railroads through stock.

The Couzens' resolution preamble cites the recently approved Northern Pacific-Great Northern merger as one "which will substantially lessen and restrain competition to the northwest from the Twin Cities to the Pacific coast," and it is charged, will seriously injure the growth and prosperity of many communities. The resolution said the supreme court in the famous northern securities case held such a merger illegal. Dissenting members of the commission also contend the merger is illegal.

The resolution said the commission's general merger plan, recently announced, does not provide for maintenance of the public interest required by law, and also that "there exists a strong sentiment that such consolidations will not be in the public interest."

It would require no merger authorization until legislation is enacted to cover holding company operations, give added protection of public interest, prevent damage to communities, check losses to rail employees, and insure better services.

White Loses First Skirmishes

Taking testimony in the case of the state against Jack White, accused of defrauding the city of Atlanta, is to begin before a jury in Judge John D. Humphries' court this morning. White Tuesday having lost a plea for abatement, another for a change of venue and a general demurrer to the indictment. The accused broker is shown above leaving the courthouse after the jury had been selected and the trial recessed. Leading is former Mayor Walter A. Sims, of White's counsel, while directly behind is White flanked by two more of his defense staff, H. A. Allen on the left and A. L. Henson on the right.

Coolidge Purchases 'Modest' New Home

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 1.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge today announced that in a month or two he and Mrs. Coolidge would abandon the little two-family dwelling house where they have resided for many years to take up more spacious quarters in a 16-room mansion here known as The Beeches.

Mr. Coolidge, in announcing his purchase, described it as "a modest place with a little land." The Beeches has nine acres, an outdoor swimming pool, tennis courts and abundant flower gardens. The house contains four baths, an elevator and telephone connections on each floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge purchased The Beeches, located near Hampton Terrace, from Mrs. Morris Comey, widow of a West Boylston manufacturer. Mr. Coolidge said that Mrs. Comey would remain on the property for another month or two.

The new Waterman's Patrician . . . It's like a JEWEL

It takes 300 separate hand-crafted operations to make one of these new Waterman's Patrician pens! Doesn't that suggest something of the delicate precision work that gives to the Patrician such a finely balanced feel and smooth flowing performance?

That's craftsmanship—the result of 47 years' experience of making better and better pens. And what an exquisitely lovely thing, too—this Patrician! Styled to the minute for 1930—a choice of five jewel colors: Emerald, Turquoise, Jet, Nacre, and Onyx . . . it has all the smartness and verve and beauty that you would demand of some charming piece of costume jewelry. Boxed at $10.00—with mechanical pencil to match, $5.00.

Waterman's No. 7 at $7.00—offering the famous Waterman's range of seven readily identified points—each one scientifically adapted to basic handwriting characteristics. Ninety-seven per cent of all pen users will find among them the one point exactly suited to their hand. Try them all and find yours.

Waterman's No. 5 at $5.00—Five points for choice—ranging from fine to stub. An unusually good pen for a moderate price—built to meet Waterman's standard of fine craftsmanship—always dependable.

Good dealers everywhere carry wide stocks of Waterman's famous fountain pens, mechanical pencils, and Waterman's inks which make any fountain pen write better. Win Automobile and Gold In Constitution Campaign

Enter Campaign Now and Get Extra Credits Offered for New Subscriptions.

Seeks Award

Did you ever notice that while you were wondering whether you could do a thing or not some one went right ahead and did it? And after it was accomplished by another person it did not seem a bit difficult, but rather easy after all.

This is just the way it is with candidates in The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign. Every mail brings names of new entrants anxious to avail themselves of this opportunity to earn a valuable automobile and gold in their spare time.

If you have been turning over the idea in your mind, settle the question now and send in your name. The 100,000 and 50,000 extra credit offers, which are the greatest extra credit offers that will be made during the length of the campaign, is just the thing to start you right off with a large number of credits.

The extra credits will be awarded in this way: For every $30 club or combination of new pre-paid subscriptions turned in up to 9 p. m. April 10, a bonus of 100,000 extra credits will be given. For every $30 club or combination of new contract subscriptions turned in, a bonus of 50,000

Miss Violet M. Eargle, 947 Ponce de Leon avenue, who is a candidate in The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign.

A problem in credits is being worked out by Miss Eargle as she has discovered that credits can be used in acquiring one of the fine automobiles to be given in The Constitution's prize offer and she is taking advantage of the extra credits to be given for new subscriptions turned in by April 10. She has many friends who have promised to help her use this new coinage (credits) in getting a new prize automobile and gold.

extra credits will be given. There is no limit to the number of clubs a candidate may turn in and the extra credits will be awarded pro-rata for the amounts over the even $30 turned in. Also it is not necessary for the candidate to wait until the entire amount of $30 in new subscriptions has been secured, but as they are received they should be turned into the campaign headquarters of The Constitution, where an accurate record is kept for each candidate. This insures the subscriber receiving the paper right away.

$500 Gold Special Awards.
Five hundred dollars in gold will be divided into seven awards and these are to be given to the seven candidates turning in the highest amounts in new subscription business during the period starting March 20, and ending April 10. The first prize is $200; second $100; third $75; fourth $50; fifth $25; sixth $25; seventh $25. These gold awards are given in addition to the 15 automobiles and other prizes to be awarded at the close of the campaign May 31.

Besides the big list of prizes all active contestants, who do not win one of the regular prizes, will be paid liberal cash commissions.

Great Chance.
With no cost on your part, here is a great chance to put your spare time to good advantage. It is credits that will win the awards and the most credits can be obtained by getting new subscriptions for The Constitution at this time when the 100,000 and 50,000 extra credits are being given. Don't wait for the other fellow to go out and win one of these prizes. In a few short weeks you can do it. Just a little determination and a little effort during your spare time and one of the big prizes may be yours. Where else could you get closed car and gold in a few weeks without any cost to you.

Now is the time. Start right out by sending in your entry today.

Republicans Grow Active As State Meet Approaches

White Leadership To Be Sought at County Pri- maries Saturday.

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.

Renewed activity was noticeable in local republican affairs Tuesday following the holding of mass meetings Monday night in every ward in the city and every precinct in the county for the purpose of selecting delegates to the county convention which will be held Saturday at the courthouse.

A county chairman, vice chairman and secretary, a full county committee and delegates to the state convention which is to meet April 18, will be named at the session Saturday. At the same time similar conventions will be held in all of the other 160 counties in the state. In practically all except the large city counties, these conventions will be of a mass meeting nature, while the conventions to meet in Atlanta, Macon, Savannah and other large cities will be made up of delegates designated at ward and precinct mass meetings, both methods having been included in the recent call by the state central committee.

The close approach of the date for the state convention and reports from over the state telling of the largest attendance on republican meetings in the history of the party in the state, resulted in Atlanta republican leaders being enthusiastic over the prospect for a reorganization of the party organization in Georgia with 100 per cent white leadership, along the lines of the expressed desires of the administration officials at Washington.

To Name New Officers.

As a result of this feeling among the republican leaders much speculation was rife as to which of them would land the plum to be passed out at the state convention. These include a new state chairman and a new national committeeman. None of the local leaders, however, would make any comment for publication as to who the probable candidates for these two places would be, or as to which had the best chances.

Roscoe Pickett, of Jasper, now undisputed in his claims to the national committee place since the recent withdrawal of G. F. Plaudersof Swainsboro, may offer for reelection to that post, or since as committeeman he will call the state convention to order, he might be named chairman of the convention, which takes with it chairmanship of the state central committee.

In like manner, J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue at Atlanta, and who is known to stand high in the regard of administration leaders in Washington, might be selected for either of the places, especially as he is now the active vice chairman of the state committee. As a matter of fact it is held in some quarters that Rose might even be named to both places, this having been done in the past in some states although it is no wise a common practice.

If the efforts of the past several months to secure an all-white control of the republican party in Georgia are successful, undoubtedly Rose would be the outstanding figure, but should these efforts fail entirely or be only partly successful, then the bars would be thrown down and there would probably be a mad scramble with leaders of every faction seeking the various posts.

Large Meetings Reported.

However, according to the reports from over the state which have come in to various republican leaders in Atlanta, it would seem that the move to eliminate the negro from party office in Georgia, sought originally by the administration forces in Washington and the campaign for which has been waged under the direction of the patronage committee, is progressing smoothly and with every prospect of success.

These reports, for instance, brought the information that at Alamo, a small town in south Georgia, a republican mass meeting had been held under adverse weather conditions at which there was an attendance of more than 300 whites with no negroes present. On the same night at Waycross, in the same section, it was declared that an even larger crowd had attended a meeting called to arrange for the county convention to be held this Saturday.

One prominent Atlanta republican declared Thursday that similar meetings had been held in every part of the state with heretofore unheard of attendances. These unprecedented attendances were interpreted by this Atlanta leader as clearly indicating the approval of the efforts to create an all-white leadership in the republican

Salvation Army Gain In Personnel Shown

Figures presented by speakers at a reorganization meeting of the Atlanta Salvation Army advisory board March 31 showed an increase of 250 per cent in the non-salaried operating personnel, an increase of 100 per cent in the woman's auxiliary or home league, and a 1,200 per cent increase in the character building agencies of army. The meeting was held at army headquarters, 54 Ellis street, and was presided over by W. E. Mitchell, vice president of the Georgia Power Company.

It is known that President Hoover has indicated that if this can be accomplished, it would be the desire of the administration that the patronage committee should consult with these county leaders before making recommendations for appointments to vacancies in the various counties. This known desire of the president was brought out by local republican leaders yesterday in commenting on the strenuous efforts that are being made to lay plans in every county in Georgia so that the negroes who hold party offices in 131 of the 161 counties of the state may be replaced with white men. The mass meetings which have been held throughout the state during the past two months were for the purpose of arousing the interest of the white republican voters in the approaching county conventions and the large attendance upon them has caused a decided spirit of optimism among the leaders of the administration leaders in Atlanta.

Decrease In Negroes.

If the various county conventions to be held throughout the state during the next few days are successful, it will mean that the delegates to the state convention will have a smaller percentage of negroes among them than they ever in the history of the republican party in Georgia.

However, even if the white voters take charge of the county conventions, it is impossible for the negroes to send in protest delegations to the state convention, and for these delegations to be seated over the regularly designated delegates, dependent upon the selection of the temporary chairman.

The whites are in a decided minority in the state central committee, which compares to the state executive committee of the democrats. If this committee should force the naming of a temporary chairman of the state convention who was a member of the Ben Davis faction, this chairman could then admit the protesting delegations to the floor of the convention and appoint a committee to decide all contests. Should this committee also be appointed from the negro wing of the party, then in all probability all of the protesting delegations would be accepted, the representatives of their various counties and the regularly named white delegations left out in the cold.

In that event there would undoubtedly arise the probability of two conventions, one composed practically solely of negroes and the other of white delegations sent from the counties in which the move for white leadership had been successful.

In case, however, the program for the sending of white delegations from all over the state is successful, and there are serious obstacles placed in the way of its accomplishment, the state convention will be called to order by Roscoe Pickett. The convention will then select its temporary chairman and proceed with the organization which will wind up with the election of permanent chairman.

So far the negro wing of the party has not openly opposed the program to replace such of its members as are now chairmen and secretaries and it is thought that this passive attitude may continue, in view of the hearty endorsement that has come down from Washington of the progress that has been made in Georgia in compliance with President Hoover's announced desires.

State To Accept New Dormitory At Alto Thursday

The commonwealth of Georgia Thursday will accept the children's dormitory erected at the state tuberculosis sanitarium at Alto by the Masonic fraternity and Order of the Eastern Star of Georgia.

The building, erected at a cost of $125,000, and modern in all details, will supply a need, department of health officials say, which has long been recognized. Governor Hardman, State Health Officers Abernethy and Bowdoin, and other members of the state board of health will accept the institution with simple but impressive ceremonies.

The program for the exercises follows:

Call to order by Most Worshipful Hugh W. Taylor, grand master.

Report of Alto building committee, announcing completion of the dormitory, by Grand Secretary Frank F. Baker, secretary of the committee.

Prayer by Past Grand Master and Director of Masonic Welfare Charles L. Bass.

Introduction of master of ceremonies, Past Grand Master Frank O. Miller, chairman of the building committee.

"The Inspiration," by Past Grand Master Joe P. Bowdoin.

"The Aid of the Grand Chapter," by Grand High Priest W. B. Graham, of the grand chapter, Royal Arch Masonry.

"The Service of the Order of the Eastern Star," by Mrs. Jean P. Beach, worthy grand matron of the grand chapter of Georgia, O. E. S.

"Masonry's Gift to Humanity and the Commonwealth," Raymond Danile, past grand master.

Acceptance of the dormitory by the chairman of the joint committee of the legislature.

Acceptance of the dormitory by Governor L. G. Hardman.

Dismissal by Most Worshipful Hugh W. Taylor, grand master.

Legislative Leaders

Meet Here Saturday

A meeting of committee chairmen and other leaders of the legislature will be held in the office of Governor L. G. Hardman Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Governor Hardman in his invitations to the conference did not specify its purpose. It is understood that the Confederate pension situation, with that of state finances and possibly the advisability of calling an extra session of the legislature will be touched upon.

The chief executive Tuesday declined to discuss the projected conference, or to deny or affirm that he had called it. Corroboration of reports that it had been called was gained from other sources.

C. HOWARD CANDLER NAMED ROTARY HEAD

All Other Officers Nominat- ed at Last Week's Meet- ing Are Elected.

Charles Howard Candler, nominated for president of the Atlanta Rotary Club at last week's luncheon meeting, was elected Tuesday. Other officers named were: J. C. L. Harris, Jr., first vice president; R. L. Foreman, Jr., secretary, and T. P. Hicks, sergeant at arms.

Of the ten directors nominated, the following five were elected: C. D. Atkinson, H. Cobb Caldwell, E. S. Humphreys, Harold B. Wey and John J. Woodside, Jr.

Elaborate plans are being made for the entertainment of delegates to the district conference to be held in Savannah May 18-20. Lauren Foreman, in charge of the "On-to-Savannah" committee, reported.

Thomas C. Law will be Atlanta's candidate for district governor, and at least 25 delegates will go down to support him, it was said.

Many Applications
Heard by Commission

The Georgia public service commission Tuesday began a three days' session of hearings. An application brought by the Southern Freight Association requesting a revision of commodity rates on furniture and carpets was heard and taken under advisement. Today the commission will hear several motor bus cases.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET IN AMERICUS

Opening Session Held in First Methodist Church Auditorium.

AMERICUS, Ga., April 1.—More than 400 Methodist mission workers gathered in Americus Tuesday to attend the annual session of the Woman's Missionary Union of the South Georgia conference. Ten districts are represented among the delegates who are being entertained in the homes of Americus Methodists and friends of that denomination here. The First Methodist congregation, of which Rev. Loy Warwick is pastor, and Lee Street Methodist congregation, of which Rev. W. F. Burford is pastor, are joint hosts to the conference.

Mrs. J. D. McKee, of Valdosta, is superintendent of the conference and one of several prominent workers arrived early today. Others who have already reached Americus for the sessions are Mrs. J. M. McEachern, of Atlanta, who is president of the Atlanta Woman's Missionary Society; Miss Wallace Rogers, of Atlanta; Miss Bert Winton, of Atlanta, rural missionary worker of the north Georgia conference; Woman's Missionary Union, and Miss Julia Lake Stevens, council superintendent of young people.

The opening session of the conference was held in the auditorium of First Methodist church Tuesday with Mrs. J. T. Douglas, of Albany, presiding. The session was devoted to a study of missionary needs of the conference as these especially apply to young people.

Address by Miss Stevens. The principal address was made by Miss Julia Lake Stevens, council superintendent of Young People's work of Nashville, Tenn. Miss Stevens talked on youth in the world missionary movement. She was followed by Miss Helen McNutt, of Wesleyan college, Macon, who spoke on the same subject from the viewpoint of a student.

Rev. Loy Warwick, pastor of the local church, led the devotional at the opening of the conference and he also extended the welcome to the delegates. Approximately 800 women were attending the session, with about 500 present as official delegates.

The registration of delegates will be held Wednesday morning and the communion service will be administered by Rev. T. H. Thompson, presiding elder of the Americus district, assisted by Rev. Mr. Warwick and other Methodist ministers.

Mrs. George C. Nunn, Perry, president, will open the first business session of the conference Wednesday morning, when she will submit her report. Mrs. H. W. Pittman, Macon, vice president; Mrs. J. N. McEachern, Atlanta, president of the North Georgia Missionary conference, and Dr. Janet Miller, returned missionary from the Congo region in Africa, also will appear on the program Wednesday.

Wednesday night a program based upon social service of the conference will be presented with a cast of 25 persons assisting in the presentation. The officers of the conference are Mrs. G. C. Nunn, of Perry, president; Mrs. H. W. Pittman, of Macon, vice president; Mrs. Dan Morris, of Sandersville, secretary, and Mrs. Loy Warwick, of Americus, superintendent of supplies.

The conference will remain in session through Thursday evening it was stated tonight.

HE SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH PILES

Bleeding Kind Was So Painful
He Slept on a Pillow

HELS HOW FINALLY HE OVERCAME PILES

"It was no clinic for me to overcome my pile trouble because I suffered more or less that way for twenty-five years, but in six weeks' time I was rid of piles and feeling like a new man and thinking it simply wonderful. I am writing to let the whole world know," declares Hugo Miller, a prominent paperhanger of Abbotford, Wisconsin.

"My piles were the bleeding kind. Pains in the bowels almost doubled me up sometimes and the pain was so bad that I couldn't lay in bed comfortably, so I slept with a pillow under me. Of course I already had tried a number of remedies for piles through the years but they did not do until a couple months ago I ran across these wonderful Colic Pile Pills. The first couple bottles began to show results. The pain got less and then stopped. I kept on taking them for a full six weeks and it was marvelous the way they worked. I recommend Colic Pile Pills to everybody now," continued Mr. Miller.

Until the perfection of these pills which you swallow with a little water at meal times, about the only remedy known for piles were a surgical operation, salves or suppositories. Now nobody need suffer any longer. They are guaranteed to completely relieve you of every sign of piles or money back without quibble or question. At drug stores or by return mail on receipt of 50c in stamps or coins. Colic Chemical Co., Brentwood, Maryland.—(adv.)

Body of Army Aviator, Shot, Found Near Macon

MACON, Ga., April 1.—(P)—Dr. B. S. Clanton is en route from Hagan, Ga., to Macon in an automobile to investigate the death of his son, Charles W. Clanton, whose body was found on a lonely road four miles from this city this morning with a bullet wound in the temple.

The father informed the Telegraph over long distance telephone just before he left in an automobile that his son had served three years in the aviation department of the army in Honolulu, receiving an honorable discharge on January 4 this year.

The son re-enlisted in the aviation department and left Hagan, Ga., on March 6, his father stated, for Maxwell field, Montgomery, but papers found on the body indicated that he had two more days in which to reach his destination.

The police are working on a report of a firing at Miller field early this morning, in connection with the death of Clanton. The night watchman at the airport is said to have fired on someone, according to the police.

Clanton was still alive when he was found, but he was unconscious and died only a few minutes. A telegram, instant, addressed to Staff Sergeant Dan Clanton, was received.

Local officers were informed tonight by long distance telephone that an army investigating board will come here tomorrow morning by airplane from Maxwell field to investigate fully the cause of Clanton's death.

A coroner's jury also will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow to conduct an investigation.

Two sisters arrived here early tonight, one of them being Mrs. James A. Moore, of Griffin, widow of a chaplain who was stationed at Camp Clanton, where he later oversaw during the World War.

The sisters stated that Clanton is survived by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. Clanton, and brother, Dan C. Clanton, of Cleveland, Texas. His sisters, Mrs. Moore, Misses Dorna Gene, Linda and Edith Clanton, all of Hagan, Ga.

The two brothers, it was ascertained, served in Honolulu together.

Murder Defense Has No Witnesses

COLQUITT, Ga., April 1.—(P)—The defense in the trial of J. B. Jones and Marvin Dennis, negroes, charged with the murder of Jeff Davis, widely known Miller county planter, will not introduce any testimony, it was indicated at the second day of the trial today.

The state placed 25 witnesses on the stand. Arguments of attorneys will be heard in the morning and the case will probably go to the jury before noon.

The trial is being held before 11 jurors, counsel on both sides agreeing to that number when the panel was exhausted.

Mrs. E. S. Preston, of Atlanta, former state B. Y. P. U. leader for Georgia, spoke on "To the Unknown Leader." This was followed by an address on "A Man Seven Stories High" delivered by Roland Q. Levell, of Gainesville.

The Tuesday afternoon devotional message, "Set Forward to Work," was delivered by Miss Jean McEachern, Canton, and O. P. Gilbert, editor of The Christian Index, Atlanta, delivered an address on "God's Picked Young People."

LIQUOR CONSPIRACY CASE MOVES SLOWLY

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 1.—(P)—Featured by persistent objections of defense counsel to practically every question asked by the government in the trial of Richard A. Bailey and Chesley Tuten, charged with conspiracy in liquor shipments, the United States district court moved slowly today.

Judge W. H. Barrett adjourned court at 2 o'clock with the remark that he thought the court and every one had heard enough of the case for one day.

A paper purporting to be a settlement between Bailey, Tuten and Cannon for Cannon's wages and advances was put in evidence. Cannon testified to seeing money paid masters of ships for the liquor shipments.

CONFESSION CLAIMED FROM WIFE SLAYER

Sheriff Says Gaskins Admits Fatal Stabbing of Estranged Mate.

METTER, Ga., April 1.—(P)—J. Sheriff M. E. Trammell, of Chandler county, today said English Gaskins, 37, had admitted he fatally stabbed his former wife and threw her from his automobile to the highway near the home of her brother Saturday night.

Gaskins refused to give any details of the incidents leading up to the stabbing, the sheriff said, the accused man, however, continued to maintain he did not know his wife had died from the wounds until Monday morning before he surrendered to A. R. Strickland in Liberty county.

The object of a wide hunt after Plummer Hamm, the woman's brother, had found her in a dory condition near his home, Gaskins immediately was placed in jail at Hinesville. He was brought to the Chandler county jail early today.

Sheriff Trammell said Plummer Hamm, whose home Mrs. Gaskins had been living, told him his sister and Gaskins had been separated about six weeks, and that during that time she had received a threatening letter, demanding a reconciliation. Mrs. Gaskins, Hamm said, then sought refuge in Savannah and later Jacksonville. The brother told the sheriff that Mrs. Gaskins returned to his home, and that Saturday night her husband called at his home and asked to see Mrs. Gaskins. Gaskins immediately and shortly after she went out to Gaskins' automobile, and occupants of Hamm's home saw the man throw his wife from the vehicle and drive away.

Gaskins was a tenant farmer on a plantation near Lyter, in Liberty county. He has seven children by a previous marriage, being divorced in Deland, Fla.

Griffin High Pupils
Escape School Fire

GRiffin, Ga., April 1.—(P)—Students at Griffin High school fled from their rooms with customary order and precision in a fire here but this time there was a real blaze. A blaze had started in the boiler room in the basement, had burned through a door, and was creeping toward the domestic science room when it was discovered. Firemen extinguished the fire before serious damage resulted.

Weary of Living, Farmer Suicides

METTER, Ga., April 1.—(P)—J. B. Rogers, 72-year-old farmer, committed suicide at his home about seven miles northeast of here this morning by firing a load of buckshot into his heart, according to officers.

He was living at the old Rogers home place, no one living with him except a small grandson, Curtis Alderman, who was in the field plowing at the time of the suicide and did not know that his grandfather was dead until he went to the house at noon-time and found the body on the floor. Mr. Rogers left a note saying he was taking his life at 10 o'clock, that he was "going home to rest," that he was tired of living.

Girl Exonerates Accused Youth

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 1.—(P)—Miss Velma Campbell, whom Denver A. Andrews is alleged to have beaten recently in Chattahoochee county, has made an affidavit exonerating him, it was announced today by a local law firm.

A warrant charging assault with intent to murder was issued for Andrews and he was arrested in Columbus and turned over to the Chattahoochee sheriff several days ago. Officers said he was accused of beating the girl and attempting to force her to drink poison. In the affidavit, as signed, that Andrews did not attempt to force her to swallow the poison but that he prevented her from taking it in an effort to commit suicide, the attorneys said.

HANCOCK EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

SPARTA, Ga., April 1.—(Special)—The Hancock county democratic executive committee met here today and set fees and promulgated rules for candidates in the country primary to be held this fall, on the same date as the state primary.

So far, five candidates have announced for the three places on the county board of roads and revenues. Two, G. W. Rives and W. E. Harrison, are members of the present board, while three aspirants to the posts are R. C. Wiley, Frank Jackson and M. L. Johnson.

State legislator John C. Lewis is unpopular for re-election, while Judge James B. Park, of the superior court, and Congressman Carl Vinson are expected to be renominated without opposition.

Shoenhair Lands With Byrd Pictures

MIAMI, Fla., April 1.—(P)—Lee Schoenhair, 36, of Miami, landed at Silverstone plane at the Pan-American airport here at 3:50 p. m. today, after carrying pictures of the Byrd antarctic expedition movie from the Byrd expedition and water from Terra Honduras, today.

The pictures, the first to reach the United States after the expedition, were taken by Schoenhair, who is now in the Associated Press, the New York Times and Paramount News in New York city.

Schoenhair said tonight he will continue his flight to New York tomorrow morning, starting from here about 5:30 a. m. He expects to reach New York by 2 o'clock.

He was accompanied here by George E. Trambly, of Hartford, Conn., service man who made the flight with the diminutive pilot and from Balboa, Canal Zone, where the Byrd pictures were given to their care.

Schoenhair encountered heavy weather north of Balboa, and was forced to land Sunday night at Managua, Nicaragua, in the face of adverse conditions. The bad weather continued yesterday and through part of today, he said. He made Terra Honduras, last night after two starts from Managua, and left the Honduran city at 7:25 a. m., in inclement weather. The skies cleared during the morning, he said, but he faced a cross wind as he passed over Cozumel island, San Julian and Havana en route to Miami.

Young Wife Slays Hubby's Lady Friend

PINEVILLE, Ky., April 1.—(P)—Mrs. Ruth Robinson, 19, of Cary, Ky., today shot and killed Mrs. Sophia Massengale, when they met on the railroad tracks at the mining town. Immediately afterward, Mrs. Robinson went to the general store of F. T. Rhea, tossed her revolver behind the counter and asked that a deputy sheriff be called.

Lodged in jail here late in the day Mrs. Robinson said that her husband and Mrs. Massengale had been in her house about midnight Sunday; that she stepped out and said, "There's no use for you to hide, I see you," Mrs. Robinson said that her husband seized her and said he would hold her for Mrs. Massengale to inflict a beating upon her. This she refused to do.

Today the young woman said that when she met Mrs. Massengale the latter grabbed her by the hair and that she drew a revolver from her pocket and fired pointblank into her body.

Alabama Militia Protects Attacker

TROY, Ala., April 1.—(UN)—The Troy company of the Alabama national guard was ordered out tonight on appeal of Sheriff R. A. Galloway, of Pine county, to prevent thugging of Robert Giles, negro, held on a charge of attacking a white woman.

Feeling ran high here earlier tonight shortly after the alleged attack, and the sheriff admitted the situation appeared threatening, with scores of angry citizens walking the streets. Giles was the guard at the county jail here and was to be transferred to another jail later. He had not been questioned, the sheriff said, and had made no statement of any kind.

High School Girl Is Indicted For Shooting Miss McDaniels

ALAMO, Ga., April 1.—(P)—Miss Marion Bullard, 19-year-old student in the local high school, was indicted today by a Wheeler county grand jury on charges of assault with intent to murder, in connection with the shooting of Miss Grace McDaniels, 27, which occurred here early last month.

The girl is now at liberty under bond of $2,000, which was assessed at her commitment trial held the day following the shooting. The Wheeler superior court for the March term was adjourned today by Judge Eschel Graham. Miss Bullard probably will face trial at the September term unless an adjourned session of the court is held.

BANK GROUP MEETINGS ARRANGED NEXT WEEK

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 1.—(P)—Gordon L. Groover, president of the Georgia Bankers' Association, will leave next week to attend annual group meetings of the association in various cities of the state.

The first group meeting will be in Savannah, Ga., on April 7, then at Bainbridge, Ga., the following day, and others on successive days in Valdosta, Ga., Aiken, S. C., and Canton, Ga.

Rejection by Girl Cause of Suicide

CAIRO, Ga., April 1.—(P)—Mather Logue, 22-year-old Grady county farmer, swallowed a quantity of poison while walking with his former fiancée here yesterday. He died shortly after. Disappointment in love was given as the cause of the suicide.

The girl, whom officers refused to name, said when she refused to marry him, Logue forced her to take some of the poison and then swallowed some himself. The girl took Logue to a physician and he died shortly afterwards. First aid was given the young woman who is in a serious condition at her home here.

Savannah School Accountant Dies

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 1.—(P)—Stricken with an attack of angina pectoris in the lunch room of the Senior High school building here, Otis B. Harbuck, accountant of the board of education, died shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. He had been connected with the board for six years, first as stock clerk and for the last three years as accountant.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Leila Harbuck, of Savannah; by a daughter, Mrs. M. N. Tutwiler, of Athens; by a son, James Harbuck, of Detroit; and by a sister, Mrs. Henry Harbuck, of Atlanta, and a brother, Harbuck, of Cumberland, Ohio.

Funeral arrangements have not been made as yet.

BARNESVILLE LIBRARY CLOSES 20TH YEAR

BARNESVILLE, Ga., April 1.—Tuesday brought the Carnegie Library of Barnesville to the close of its twentieth year. Every organization in the county is interested in the library, and each one that has an official organ adds a yearly subscription to the list of periodicals. The Three Arts Club of Barnesville has as one of its prime objects the sponsoring of the library, and each year makes a contribution to its support. The last annual report shows the following classes and number of volumes on the shelves.

BENNING MAY GET FEDERAL PRISONERS

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 1.—(P)—A special dispatch from Washington to The Ledger Tuesday says that assignment of several hundred federal prisoners to road work at the Fort Benning infantry school is waiting only on completion of housing details and approval by the war department. The plan recently was adopted at Fort Bragg, N. C. The Ledger story also states that a department of justice inspector recently investigated the feasibility of using prison labor at the army post.

Clock-Keeper Hired By Bibb County

MACON, Ga., April 1.—(P)—It's a lot of trouble to keep the big clock going on top of the Bibb county courthouse. The people demand the clock and the county commissioners spent a large sum of money a year ago to rebuild it. Today Frank Regero agreed to keep the clock running for $50 a year. The commissioners gave him the job.

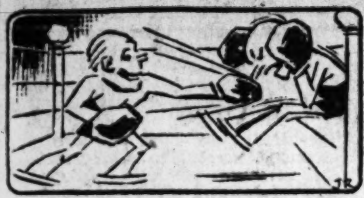

Dogs Made Subject Of Trial in Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 1.—(P)—Any dog in Kentucky accused of sheep killing or other crimes will be entitled to a trial in court, under the provisions of a bill passed by the general assembly which became law today without Governor Fennell's signature.

The previous dog law provided that dogs could be killed when caught killing sheep, which led to court trials by owners seeking to recover their pet. The court of appeals ruled that trial courts had no authority to try animals, and freed two dogs whose cases had been around a nation-wide interest. "Kaiser Bill," a Montgomery county police dog, and "Jack," a Fayette county Airedale.

The legislature of the state urged the legislature to enact the new law, which makes court proceedings against dogs legal.

JONES FINISHES 13 STROKES AHEAD OF FIELD

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1.—Augusta looked back last night on its first pretentious open golf championship with satisfaction. It was an unqualified success.

And those who came here to play golf or watch the competition shook their heads and wondered if Augusta leaders were in league with the mysterious forces of nature. The tournament was a success because these Augusta leaders manifested vast determination and no little plain and fancy necromancy.

After a run of miserable weather, two sparkling days were provided for the 72 holes of play. Bobby Jones, one of the stars in the east, developed a crick in the neck, but it was erased. Horton Smith, after declining the invitation to play on account of a previous engagement Wednesday in Boston, was brought here by automobile the night before the tournament opened.

Then he was caught up in a fast cabin plane shortly after he had finished his final 36 holes and hurried away to Washington to catch the Federal Express for Boston and his golfing engagement.

And from the lips of the horde of professionals, the most caustic critics of golf courses that can be sought, came nothing but words of highest praise for the two great layouts.

The southeastern open championship was not just another winter tournament. It was a series of miracles. Next year Augusta will have an amateur event and a woman's championship as well as an open tournament. The charming old city is definitely on the golf map now in black capital letters.

COBB QUOTATIONS.

A visitor here finds himself quoting Ty Cobb on nearly every subject. Contact with Cobb provides him with quotations. The ex-ball player is a keen observer and he brings to golf a fresh viewpoint.

"I am certain for more reasons than one I never could be a great golfer," Cobb said after scrambling around in the jostling gallery that followed Bobby Jones and Horton Smith in the first half of the play. "In baseball you may have 40,000 people watching you, but they are caged up in a grandstand, shut off by fences and screens. They seem far away and their voices blend into a roar that is of no more bother than the wind in the trees.

"But how does a man play a shot that requires intense concentration when a thousand people are standing at his elbow, breathing on his neck and whispering excitedly? Being a left-handed golfer I never could get good enough to draw a gallery. But if I ever was asked to play a round with Bobby Jones and those people crowded around to watch me drive I doubt if I'd get off the tee in three shots."

JONES GALLERIES.

While Bobby's galleries may be seen as a great hindrance to him, his huge followings all but wreck the game of the hapless match just ahead.

When Bobby steps on the tee and pauses to wait for the match ahead to take the second shot, the mob rushes on and confuses the struggling players. The crowd charges up to the green a few minutes later to gain a post to watch Bobby's approach shot and usually chatters volubly to the discomfort of the earnest toilers already on the green. Trying to hole a six-foot putt for a five on a par four hole is murderous when a Jones gallery is playing tag all about.

One young professional, just ahead of Jones and Smith, was having a terrible time Monday. While he was in a sand trap concentrating on an explosion shot a newspaper photographer calmly walked across the rim of the trap between him and the hole, as photographers will. The young pro relaxed and spluttered maledictions on the whole tribe of cameramen.

On the next hole this same young pro was preparing to putt when a portly matron panting after her husband called out in piteous tones "Help me up there, George." The young pro nearly cried. Furthermore he cursed roundly and audibly.

On the next hole the pro tearfully asked a gallery marshal to quiet a bevy of beautiful young ladies who were giggling over something.

A SNEEZE AND A PUTT.

Nerves shattered, a vast hatred for humanity in his heart, the young pro came to the 18th green just ahead of the Jones match and had a 40-foot putt for a 79. The crowd here was doubled and was pushing closer to wait for Jones and Smith to make their approach shots.

The young pro studied his putt, mastered his nerves with a great effort and took his club back. At that moment an old gentleman sneezed loudly. It sounded like an Arkansas farmer calling hogs. The young pro turned to vent his ire but the ball rolled right up to the cup and trickled in.

If the old man had not sneezed he would have missed the putt a mile. The moral is: If you want a good ally play in front of a Jones match and blame it all on the gallery.

CRACKERS LOSE TO CINCINNATI BY 9-7 SCORE

Error and Bad Decision in Sixth Pave Way for Runs.

By Ralph McGill.

Running into a storm of misfortune in the sixth and a squall of base hits in the seventh, the Crackers lost a ball game, 9 to 7, yesterday afternoon to the Cincinnati Reds which they seemed to have safely in the bag. Leaping onto the right-handed ferings of John (Red) Lucas, one of the finest right-handers in the game, the Crackers batsmen had two big innings in the five Lucas worked and sent seven runners pounding over the platter.

They were leading seven to one when the sixth inning came around and a crowd of fans were giggling and buying peanuts with great gusto and glee. The Crackers might as well have been tickling them in the ribs with feathers so delighted were the Crackers fans.

GREAT PLAY.

Jack Sheehan had been making sensational stops at second. So had Jimmy Johnston at short. Not only that, but the veteran shortstop had been hitting that baseball and running like the cunning fool he is. At third Jim Battle had been exciting the customers and Dick Burris was playing in 1924 form at first base.

Oh, my yes, the goose was hanging high and all was quiet on the Potomac. And then came a sour decision, Curtis Walker, first up, hit one to Joe Kiefer. The Dutch Cowboy threw a bit high to Dick Burris, but Burris grabbed the ball. He was all over the bag. In fact, he never left it. But Umpire Johnston called Walker safe.

BAD BREAKS.

Bob Meusel struck out, but Harry Heilmann, the old Tiger slugger, hit one to Sheehan. It was hard hit and Sheehan fumbled it in his eagerness to double Walker. Seeing that the chances for a double were gone he tossed to first, but the toss was wild and Heilmann was safe. Kiefer walked Long George Kelly and there the bases were all populated and trouble ready to leap in.

It did. Tony Cuccinello, the willing wily, lugged one to left field for three bases and the big parade of Red-leg runners began.

Four runners scored that inning, Cuccinello coming in when Ford was forced at second.

Don Brennan took the hill at the start of the seventh. He had little control and his curve ball wasn't breaking a great deal.

The Redlegs leaped on it with savage cries of delight. Hughey Critz, Curt Walker and Bob Meusel singled in succession and Callahan walked. Long George Kelly singled next and Tony Cuccinello was on by Johnston's error. Brennan struck out Ford, but Johnny Goetz, the Sox's sharpshooter, singled to keep the work going. Jakey May and Critz finally got themselves out, but from all that melange of hitting, walking and bunting, not four more Redlegs runners had been sent home. Long George Kelly being responsible for two of them with his single.

NINE TALLIES.

Those four runs, with the one which the Redlegs got off Red Oldham in the first, gave them nine tallies. Held grimly on to those without being so very grim about it. Old Jakey May was chucking that underhand bunt in there and the Crackers were being very meek indeed. The seven they got off Red Lucas was all they could muster. It should have been a ball game in the City of the Future, but wasn't. Which situation often bobs up in the merry sea of baseball.

There were quite a few Crackers on the field of honor. Their play was very, very satisfactory, everything considering. Bad breaks and a cold pitcher can undo almost any sort of teamwork.

JOHNSTON SPEEDS.

It would have warmed the cockles of your old heart to see Jimmy Johnston run the bases. He doubled, tripled and hit a sacrifice fly in his first three times at bat. He made a double of his first one by skidding along like a Mexican jumping bean full of tequila.

He came in from the third base tripping on a very short fly to right field that Harry Heilmann couldn't get in to the plate.

Jack Sheehan earned a very greenhorn's base.

---And Mighty Hughey Didn't Strike Out!

Hughey Critz, Cincinnati's great second baseman and lead-off man, singled the first time up yesterday when the Reds defeated the Crackers 9 to 7. The Constitution photographer caught the ball just after Red Oldham had let it go and just when Critz was starting his swing. Critz singled. Below are two ex-Atlanta stars now with Brooklyn. Climax Blethen, left, and Max West, right, drove up from Clearwater to Atlanta to see the game. They returned last night to Macon where the Robins open a series with Macon today.

ROBY PROGRAM SET TONIGHT

All-Colored Card Opens in Auditorium Ring at 8:15 O'Clock.

California Joe Gans, Roy Dunn, Big Jack Townsend, Fighting Bob Lawson and all the rest of the flock of fighters who will participate in Roby's boxing classic at the auditorium tonight have finished their work.

All is set for the most interesting all-star fight show that Roby has yet put on. At least two on the card are internationally famous—Jack Townsend, heavyweight, and California Joe Gans, welter. Both of these boys have fought in Europe, as well as in the most noted arenas of Cuba, Mexico, Porto Rico, Central and South America.

These are the kind of fighters Roby is bringing to Atlanta for the entertainment of the fans who appreciate only the best scrappers available. A greater number of celebrities are matched on this card than have ever been brought together for a single fight show in Atlanta, and Roby is authority for the statement that it will be his biggest and most exciting royal entertainment.

"Dynamite" Roy Dunn will go against Gans, Bob Lawson exchanges wallop with Jack Townsend. Among other fast hard-punching boys will be Lew Hardwick, Cowboy Kid, James Stratford, Tom Walker, Milton Wright, George Cooper, Battling Raford and Lightning Howard, the clown who knocks them down and out. Seven hard little blackberries in the battle royal opener will furnish plenty of amusement, and the show will be exciting and spectacular throughout.

Advance sales have been enormous, and S. R. O. signs will probably be posted before the show gets on the way. Ladies will be admitted free as usual at all Roby shows, and the bouts start exactly on time.

Louisiana Tech Coach Quits Post

RUSTON, La., April 1.—(AP)—In order to study for a higher college degree, F. A. Rockwell, athletic director of Louisiana Tech, today resigned his position. His successor is to be selected later. Rockwell is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

Rixey Says Wingo Valuable Catcher

Eppa Rixey, veteran pitcher of the Reds, thinks the Crackers have a great catcher in Wingo, who was with the Reds for a number of years. "Wingo is a great man to have on the ball club," said Rixey, "and is especially good at handling pitchers. He has plenty of good baseball left and speed record of 231 miles an hour. The fans should get tickets early. He is one of the smartest pitchers in the game."

Kaye Don's Trial Postponed Again

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 1.—(AP)—Rough beach conditions today caused Kaye Don, British racing champion, to again postpone his assault upon the world's automobile speed record of 231 miles an hour.

He made one false start shortly after bringing his giant Silver Bullet on to the ocean speedway, and that sent it roaring over the course at a speed of 173 miles an hour.

Upon reaching the north end of the beach, he announced that the course was too rough to attain a higher speed and immediately towed his car back to the garage.

N. B. A. Wipes Hands Of Wrestling Game

CINCINNATI, April 1.—(AP)—The National Boxing Association which last August included wrestling under its jurisdiction, late today said heavyweights wrestlers have blocked all plans for honest competition and washed its hands of further attempts to clean up the heavyweight wrestling game.

Stanley M. Isaac, N. B. A. president, said: "Heavyweight wrestling factions desire and intend to continue using unsuitable contestants, matched under secret arrangements and ballroom conditions similar to the chaotic condition which has existed in this wrestling class for five years."

As a result of the investigation Colonel H. J. Landry, Friars Point, Miss., chairman of the wrestling championship committee, announced heavyweights wrestlers, their promoters and all heavyweight wrestling interests immediately were barred from recognition in N. B. A. territory.

SAVANNAH WINS OVER IOWA FIVE

Georgians Score 26-16 Victory Over St Mary's at Chicago.

By Paul R. Mickelson, Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, April 1.—(AP)—Dixie basketball scored new and impressive triumphs today and tonight in the initial ten first round battles of the University of Chicago's twelfth annual national prep championship at Bartlett gymnasium.

Seven first teams from the Southland started and six of them finished what they started out to do, tumbling good quintets out of the grand championship scramble by generally large margins. The only Dixie team to fail was Cambridge, Md., which fell 22 to 20, before a surprising team of striplings from Ely, Nevada. The victorious Southern teams were Linsly, Va., Spartanburg, S. C., Corinth, Ky., Lakeland, Fla., Jena, La. and Savannah, Ga.

In addition to the Nevada state champions, the other survivors, all of whom entered into an early round and were never headed, St. Mary's, New Brunswick, N. J., and Moritz Park High of Chicago.

Savannah defeated St. Mary's High of Iowa City, 28 to 16. The game marked the close of the first day's play.

Savannah will face Morgan Park of Chicago in the second round Thursday at 4 p. m.

Led by Harry Shore, who scored 4 baskets and 3 free throws, the Savannah entry jumped into an early lead and was never headed. St. Mary's, runner-up in the Iowa Catholic league, was kept in the running by the brilliant shooting of Grim who was high point man of the game with 5 baskets and 2 free throws.

WALLACE WADE LEAVES TIDE

Alabama Mentor To Coach Duke; Resignation Effective Sept. '31

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 1.—(AP)—Wallace Wade, for seven years head coach at the University of Alabama, today announced that he had signed a five-year contract to coach Duke University at Durham, N. C., beginning in September, 1931.

Wade, who coached championship football teams at the university in 1924, 1925 and 1926, gave no reason for leaving Alabama, but it was known that some of the alumni had been dissatisfied with the showing of the Crimson Tide in the past two years.

Wade will remain through this year at Alabama. He said today that he had not planned to take any of his assistants with him to Duke.

During Wade's seven years as head coach at Alabama his eleven teams have won 51 games, tied two and lost 12.

Wade began his coaching career after three years on the varsity as tackle at Brown University. He went first to Fitzgerald-Clark academy near Nashville, Tenn., and after two years signed assistant to Dan McTighe at Vanderbilt. Two years later he came to Alabama in 1923.

His first football team lost only two games, one to Syracuse and the other to Florida. The following year the Tide won the Southern conference championship and lost only one game, to Centre outside the circle.

The Tide repeated in 1925 and 1926 in the Southern conference, and both years Alabama was invited to Pasadena, Cal., for the Rose Bowl game. The 1925 invasion of the Pacific coast marked the first time a southern team had been invited to the Rose Bowl game.

Alabama posted out Washington, 7-0, in 1925 and tied Stanford, 7-7, in 1926.

During his tenure such stars as Johnny Mack Brown, Pooley Hubert and Tommy Holm, backfield men; Freddie Pickard, William Buckler and Fred Sington, line men, and Hoyt "W" Winslett have played on Wade's teams.

Part of the judging was done today, with more than half being left for tomorrow's program.

Maggie C. Murphy, young trotter owner by the Chandler of Atlanta, was one of the most pleasing of the day's winners as she captured the ribbon in the two and three-year-old trotter division.

A few shots may be recalled out of Bob's two final rounds to show how he retrieved his few errors. At No. 3 in the morning his drive hit the top of a trap and bounced into the rough. Bobby took a No. 3 iron and played a shot 150 yards over some trees to the green and took a par 4. On No. 17 and No. 18 in the morning he played extremely difficult approach shots over traps to get close to the pin for par scores.

In the afternoon he started his stampede by holing a chip shot off No. 1 green for a birdie 3. He then laid a long iron approach shot dead to the pin on No. 2 for an eagle 3. Then he put his approach shot 5 feet from the pin on No. 3 and took a birdie 3.

club course. He then was leading the field by three strokes.

THE PLASTER WORKS. He carried that lead into battle today at the Hickey links and defeated the field with a 32, two under par, a masterpiece of machine-like golf. No need to recount the details of that round. One might as well count the brush strokes and calculate the grams of paint used by a Whistler.

That blazing around left the field ten strokes in the rack. It was the short sword stab that finishes the wounded gladiator.

But the fact that Bobby went out after lunch and shot a par 71, to make his triumph more convincing is not the story exactly. There is a anguish tonight in the King's soul for that very 71. It might have been a 68, a masterpiece record and a draught of the wine of perfection. Bobby started out in the afternoon just coasting and roared through the first nine holes four strokes under par.

His 32 was a marvelous exhibition of approaching and putting. Sensing that a record round was being manufactured the gallery grew to tremendous size. Interest was intense, although the tournament was won and Bobby was "in." Gene Sarazen and Al Eschenosky played with Bobby. Both were far out of the running.

FIVE UNDER PAR. Bobby edged along the tortuous masses of the homeward journey and came to the sixteenth tee five strokes better than par. He needed to finish par to score his 68. The sixteenth is a 192-yard one-shotter. Two groups of players were jammed ahead and the Jones-Sarazen-Bobby party had to wait probably twenty minutes. Bobby was tired and lay down on the grass.

When the traffic jam was cleared, Bobby pulled his iron shot into the woods at the left, the pin high. Sarazen did the same. There must have been a wind that neither allowed for.

Bobby was lying in pine needles. A tree was between him and the hole. So was a wide, deep trap. After the crowd had been driven back so he could swing his club, Bobby tried a delicate chip shot to clear the trap and at least half on the green to get a four. His club took too much soft dirt and the ball hit in the trap. Bobby chipped out and the ball ran 40 feet past the cup. He took three putts for a 6. That left him only 2 strokes better than par. But dropping those strokes was numbing pain to a master, who cannot be satisfied with anything short of perfection.

Cobb is my golf expert now. He explained that the hole was in trouble in the first place. "Did you see what that boy did?" exclaimed Cobb as he came up on me in the gallery. "He lay high, Sarazen ground. Right when he was hot and keyed up. Why do they warm up a horse before they put him over the jumps? Why do they keep a horse moving between jumps? Why does a pitcher put on a sweater between innings? How can I expect to hold his poise and his fitness when he lies down on the ground and rests for 20 minutes? That boy should never do that again as long as he lives. If a ball player or a pitcher or a golfer is corresponding to that in a tight game I'd fine him."

That's all right if you want one. Most of us are satisfied with the score as it is. "Ty was just excited over the prospect of seeing a record round."

Bobby played the 17th in a record on the 18th his drive hit a spectator and bounced into the woods. Bobby was forced to waste a stroke chipping out into the fairway again; then he bent his back to a mighty swing shot for the distant green and the chip kicked into a sand trap. He chipped out on 12 feet from the pin and took 2 putts for a 6. That was a dismal final hole, the par of the course that he had flouted for 15 holes pulled him down a few terms.

Horton's Plane Arrives Safely

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1.—(AP)—J. Bothwell Lee, local manager for Southern Airways, Inc., announced tonight he had received a telegram from Pilot Arley of the air line saying he landed in Washington at 6 p. m. with Horton Smith, young Cragsdon, N. Y., golf professional, who completed in the Southeastern Open Tournament which closed here today.

Smith has an engagement in Boston tomorrow and agreed to play here only after air transportation from here to Washington was arranged for him. He planned to take a train from Washington for the Massachusetts city at 8 p. m. The Bellanca plane with Smith and Billy Burke aboard took off from here at 2 p. m.

Injured Ankle Benches Bartell

HOUSTON, Texas, April 1.—(AP)—With the opening of the National league pennant race only a couple of weeks away, the Pittsburgh Pirates are confronted with a growing list of injured and sick.

Dick Bartell took his place on the bench today with an injured ankle. Fred Brecheen, outfielder, also is nursing an injured ankle. Pie Traynor, brilliant third baseman and captain, is en route east for treatment of an ailing eye, and Lloyd Waner, of the famous Waner brothers, still is weak from his recent appendicitis operation. The Pirates arrived here today on their exhibition tour.

Russell and Decatur Meet Defeat in Third Round of Prep League Race.

By Roy White.

After losing its first two games, University School came back strong Tuesday afternoon to beat Decatur, 15 to 10, in a loosely-played game at Decatur.

Ruben Tucker, U. S. B. southpaw, was on the mound, and although he gave up nine hits he was never in serious danger. He kept the hits well scattered with the exception of the fourth and ninth innings, when Decatur scored nine of its runs.

Martin and Pomeroy were the hitting stars for the winners. Martin had two triples, a home run and a single out of six trips to the plate. Pomeroy was credited with three hits out of five tries.

Smith and Buice hit best for the losers with two safeties each. Thomas struck out eight of the U. S. B. batters, but his support was weak. Decatur made eight errors and U. S. B. made six.

Commercial Trips
Marist, 6 to 1.

Commercial High upset the prep baseball dope Tuesday afternoon with a 6-to-1 victory over Marist, at Kirkwood park. Marist was leading the prep league with two victories and no defeats until Cook, crack Commercial pitcher, held the Cadets well in check Tuesday afternoon.

The hitting of Davis and the pitching of Cook featured the game. Davis secured a double and two singles, and was responsible for four of the Commercial runs. Cook allowed Marist only five hits and struck out 12 of the Beamen.

Moe Kunsberg was the only Marist batter to secure more than one hit. He started on the mound but was taken out after three runs had been scored off seven hits. Holt relieved him and gave Commercial four hits and three runs in three innings.

Russell Bows To G. M. A., 3-2.

A timely single by Christian that scored March in the ninth inning enabled G. M. A. to beat Russell High, 3 to 2, Tuesday afternoon at East Point in the Cadets' first prep league game of the season.

Clark, veteran Cadet pitcher, was on the mound with an injured hand, but he hurled winning ball and gave Russell seven hits.

Smithies Beat Boys' High, 10-1.

Tech High opened its 1936 baseball season Tuesday afternoon with a surprising 10-to-1 victory over Boys' High, one of the league leaders, at Piedmont Park.

John Chambers was Coach Tolbert's hurling selection and John lived up to expectations. He gave Boys' High, ancient Tech High rivals, only one hit, a single in the third inning, and struck out seven of the Hurricane batters. He walked only two batters and was never in danger.

Jake Morris, veteran third baseman, and Jack English, in centerfield, were the stars of the game. Morris secured a double, a home run and two singles in five trips to the plate. English, after striking out the first time, came through with three singles. Morris' home run came in the eighth inning.

The fielding was nothing to write home about. Tech High committed five errors and Boys' High had six.

All Set To Go.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1.—It will be a matter of four weeks before Bobby Jones starts for the other side, but he is already geared up and ready to go at top speed.

Bobby proved, beyond any argument, over the two well-trapped, testing Augusta courses that he will make this next invasion in better condition and more thoroughly equipped than he ever was before. He is taking this next trip more seriously than he has ever taken any other, his main objective being the British amateur championship, the one prize he has as yet to win. I have never seen him hitting his tee shots as far and true as he did all through the Augusta show.

Both the Hill course and the Forest-Ricker course demand high grade hitting from the tee. They place a large premium on both power and accuracy if one is to reach the green in par. Many of the fairways were quite narrow with killing penalties on either side from woods and sand. Yet Jones would slash a high, long tee shot that skirted the edge of pines and maples and oaks on the most direct line to the pin.

It took complete confidence to run any risks on hole after hole. There was hardly a tee shot off line to any extent. All through the 72-hole grand and the longer holes his tremendous wallop traveled a considerable distance beyond his normal drive.

These two open tournaments at Savannah and Augusta have been just what the Georgian needed to key himself up for the British test. He will play more golf this April than he has played in early springs for some years and you can take it for granted now that he will overlook nothing that will make him ready with all the artillery he can carry.

He is playing every club about as well as every club can be played. And this includes his masher, an instrument that has been dipped in poison more than one occasion in the last few years.

One has to keep hitting the ball correctly in order to score and a few slight lapses will lead immediately into a set of soggy figures. Any number of the best pros were fighting to break 80, not to break 70.

Must Have Upset Bob.

It seems that Bobby Jones must have taken somewhat to heart the one-stroke defeat handed him at the Savannah open championship a few weeks ago. Today the Atlanta barstender certainly turned on the heat at Augusta and over two great courses—the Augusta Country Club and the Forest-Ricker—put the young champion through a hell of a workout.

He worked very hard to get into second place and to capture first money with a count of 297.

Bobby was in grand form all the way, except for some loose putting in the first round and a slack finish of the fourth, but after he had gone nearly a score of strokes ahead of his nearest competitor.

He had a 10-stroke lead as he started the final round and at once shot it up to more than a dozen by reeling off the first three holes 3-3 against a par of 4-5-4, smacking a big iron shot within four feet of the pin at the 481-yard second hole and canning a 20-foot putt for a birdie 3 at the third hole.

This of course settled the tournament, in the event it had not been settled before, and the race among Whiffy Cox, Joe Turnesa, Johnny Farrell and Tommy Kerrigan to catch or pass Horton Smith's early score of 297 was all that remained of a contest that was mainly a surprisingly brilliant show by the national open champion.

Cox, with a 74, fell short of Smith's score by a couple of strokes and Turnesa needed a 69 to tie. He made a great effort and did a par 71. Kerrigan still had a great chance until the 13th hole of the final round, and there he skidded into a terrible 8, four strokes above par, which made precisely the difference between his eventual 300 and the 296 that would have made him leading professional here.

Smith, with no previous view of either course, managed to add rounds of 75 and 74, containing four holes in six, to his 148 of Monday; a thoroughly great achievement, considering his entire lack of rehearsal in Augusta.

The consensus among the professionals was not difficult to diagnose. "Too much Jones," they said. "When Bobby is hot, all we can do is to shoot for the money."

As a matter of fact, Jones was hitting the ball better than in a great many years, and only carelessness in the face of a huge lead kept the margin from being even more startling.

Different Foot Action.

It was surprising to note again how much closer Bobby held his feet than any other star in the Augusta field. I saw him play a full number one iron where the space between his heels was not over six or seven inches. On the same type of shot Horton Smith's feet were about 12 or 13 inches apart and Smith's stance was closer than many of the others.

Jones finds that he is able to get much body freedom with his feet close together. There is less tendency to sway or lurch and there is less tension in the body and shoulders. On a 140-yard pitch his heels are only two or three inches apart. This closed foot action also leaves him with a straighter body where only a slight stoop is to be seen against much keeeper body bend than so many others have.

Smith is just a trifle faster on his back swing than Jones is. The difference is quite noticeable. There is a beautiful smoothness to Smith's way of taking a club back, but it lacks the slower beat of his Georgia rival, who gives you the impression of having all day in his swing to complete his back swing.

But neither gives the impression of hitting too soon, of being in any hurry to impart the final punch, and this happens because he feels that every duffer carries with him and that so many stars stumble over when their going reaches a vital spot. It would be impossible to find two smoother swings than Smith and Jones can show a gallery.

The Modern Rush.

This sporting game is taking on increasing speed. Smith, Dudley and Bill Burke swung into action at 7:30 this morning in order to crowd in 36 holes and be ready for the flight to Washington where they will scatter for various points to meet Wednesday engagements. They were in the middle of their rounds for the day before noon.

Ed Dudley should look for the early get away after this. He shot an astonishing 68 over the Forest-Ricker layout, which is a lot of golf. He came back in 33, working his way through the narrow, rolling fairways that are beset with trouble on every side.

Horton Smith held his even steady pace with a 75, an excellent performance over a strange course he had never played before and where distances were often baffling when it came to playing a second shot, but when he missed one the cheerful grin still remained. After one mistake he turned and said:

"It's a great day, a fine golf course and I am still healthy and a few mistakes can't change any of these things."

Smith's temperament keeps him concentrated on the job, and no annoyance is allowed to distract him. You can see that his mind is 100 per cent on the job and when he makes a mistake it isn't through carelessness. He keeps on working, but always easily and simply with the lightest possible pressure.

These two Augusta courses are both championship tests, good enough to carry any major title play. They are both hard and interesting and they demand about every type of shot that the old game knows.

South Behind Entire Nation In Track Marks

Hamm Only Performer To Bring Record to Southland.

By Herb Clark.

Dixie's trackmen, with one single exception, are less prone to take the records to ride than those from the remainder of this fair land of ours.

Take this on the word of the committee who see to such things. Ed Hamm, "Hopping Ham," of Georgia Tech, is the solitary son of the south who has felt it necessary to make his presence known in a big way to the world at large.

Hamm has made a real business of the thing. He even went so far as to leap to a collegiate record, an American record, and a world's record at the same time. That's Dixie's only record.

A mere matter of three-fifths of a second separates the national and southern 100-yard dash mark. Which is a matter of some seven yards of cinders. And along the line there exists approximately the same margin of supremacy, always for the nation and against the south.

The list of records, as they affect the southern relays, is appended. The southern relays, which will send Dixie's athletes out to see what can be done about the matter of sending some new marks into the record books, is the classic of the south, where the best of Dixie's speedsters match strides.

TRUNK HIGHWAYS FIRST ON GEORGIA PROGRAM

Barnett Confirms One-Year Construction Plans As He Takes Office.

The highways from Toccoa to the South Carolina state line, and from Atlanta to Augusta, are on the program of the state highway board, J. W. Barnett, new chairman of the board, said Tuesday.

The new commissioner, who Tuesday morning succeeded Colonel Sam Tate in office, also said that future highways in Georgia would be 20 feet in width, instead of 18 feet as in the past. This would insure safety, he said, and is in keeping with federal regulations.

Trunk lines will be given primary attention this year, and all projects undertaken will be with federal aid. Approximately $11,000,000 will be available for the year's program.

These details, as revealed by Captain Barnett, are in line with the exclusive announcement made by The Constitution recently that a one-year building program had been adopted by the state highway board.

Mr. Barnett said he would spend the next few days familiarizing himself with work of his new office, and that no board meeting was scheduled for the present. He plans no changes in personnel of the department, stating that he was well pleased with conditions just as he found them.

"Colonel Tate through his reorganization and economies has done a great work," he said, "and I feel that we will now be able to carry on from where he has left off."

Although building will be pushed as quickly and extensively as possible, Mr. Barnett said there would be no let-up in maintenance of existing roads. Approximately $2,500,000 has been set aside for that work alone, he said, and more may be added later if necessary.

The new commissioner also expressed himself as being opposed to "experiments" in road materials, and stated that only thoroughly tested products would be used in both new construction and repairing operations.

Varied Exhibits Of Art Launched At High Museum

Two hundred representative art lovers of Atlanta attended the reception held Tuesday afternoon at the High Museum of Art for the opening of an exhibition of the child portraits of Miss Cornelia Whitehurst. Miss Whitehurst is one of the most distinguished living portraitists of children. There are about a score of her best canvasses in the exhibit which will continue at the museum through April 15.

Miss Whitehurst, who is visiting in Atlanta, was honor guest at the reception.

In addition to this collection, two important exhibits opened at the museum Tuesday. One a collection of semi-precious stones, has been given to the permanent collection by William Pitts, who gathered the interesting items together. They have recently been shown in the window of the Myron E. Freeman Jewelry Company.

Another exhibit which opened Tuesday was of photographs of southern homes from an architectural viewpoint, made by Tebbs and Knell, Inc., of New York. This will also stay on exhibit through April 15.

On Sunday afternoon, at 3:15, Mr. Pitts, donor of the collection of semi-precious stones, will give an exceptionally interesting talk, describing how he finds these stones, how he designs them, grinds, polishes and mounts them. The museum is open to the general public, with no admission charge at any time.

New City Hall Cost Totals $1,200,000

Atlanta's new city hall cost an aggregate of $1,200,000, according to figures given out Tuesday by B. Graham West, city comptroller. Sidewalks now are being laid around the building and grass will be planted on the terraces as soon as they are prepared.

Final payments to the National Construction Company, constructors of the structure, total $880,302.62. G. Lloyd Preacher Company, architects, drew a total of $45,498.62, and $200,500 was spent for additional land. Grading costs were $40,868.15; Volmer & Cetti, decorators, got $14,440.89. Special electrical fixtures bought from the Capitol Electric Company cost $7,500, and about $8,300 was the total of miscellaneous costs.

Necessary funds came from several sources, as follows: Bond issue of 1926, $1,000,000; premium on bonds, $43,000; anticipation of rental to be derived from old city hall site, $87,083.04; special appropriations, $85,000; total, $1,225,083.04. A balance of about $14,000 is still left in this fund.

Five Sons To Share In Curran's Estate

The will of James C. Curran, who died recently as the result of a bullet wound said to have been self-inflicted, Tuesday was filed for probate, with Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, county ordinary. Under the will, A. V. Curran, a brother, is to receive $500. The residue of the estate is divided among the five sons, Clyde, Jack, Edgar, Howard and Henry Curran. The testator requested that the home, 900 Drewry place, N. E., be kept intact until Henry, the youngest son, reaches the age of 25 years. W. S. Richardson, county tax collector, was named executor.

J. A. 'Military' Brown Is Given Year and Day

John A. "Military" Brown, alias Frank Douglas, alleged aide of Floyd Woodward, pleaded guilty in federal court here Tuesday to charges of using the mails to defraud and conspiring to use the mails to defraud. He was sentenced to a year and a day in the federal penitentiary on the first count and given a two-year probationary sentence on the second.

The plea of Brown, alias Douglas, wrote the closing chapter to a story of 10 years' nation-wide searching for "one of the most notorious confidence men in the country," as he has been termed.

Indictments were returned against him here more than 10 years ago charging him with defrauding Noah L. Davis out of approximately $5,000. He disappeared and was next heard of in Vancouver, B. C., last fall, where he was arrested and released before word could be sent there to hold him. He was later arrested in California and brought to Atlanta in February to await trial.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED BY ATLANTA JUNIOR LEAGUE

Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., To Head Organization

Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., was elected president of Atlanta Junior League at the meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving Club and presided over by Mrs. John Knox, Jr., the incumbent president, who serves until June 1, when the new officers will be installed. Officers elected to serve with Mrs. Howell include Mrs. Turner Jones, first vice president; Mrs. Henry Grady, Jr., second vice president; Mrs. Joel Chandler Harris, Jr., treasurer; Miss Sara Hurt, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Parks Hunt, recording secretary. The above names were brought in by the nominating committee, of which Mrs. Edgar Upton was chairman, and including Mesdames Beverly du Bose, Frank Boston, Robert Foreman, Jr., and Miss Margaret Nelson.

Mrs. Foreman Is Delegate.

Mrs. Robert Foreman, Jr., elected as delegate to the New York conference to be held in April, also won the $10 gold piece offered for the best Marionette play, having written and composed the music around an Uncle Remus story. Nine contestants competed for the prize with Mrs. Foreman the winner. The motion was carried to establish a bed in Eggleston Memorial hospital in memory of the late Mrs. Charles T. Nunnally, the former Miss Corday Rice, who was a beloved member of the organization.

The new board of directors includes Mesdames William Warren, Glenn Ryan, Wylie Ballard, Misses Katharine Norcross and Virginia Torrence.

Charming Personality.

Mrs. Howell's popularity, charming personality, remarkable executive ability and unquestioned leadership are contributing factors toward making her forthcoming administration most successful. Possessed of beauty, poise, graciousness and intellect, she is fitted to fill any position of trust and honor to which she may be called. She has always been a faithful, earnest worker, ever upholding the ideals and purposes of the league, and will represent the organization at the national conference to be held in New York city in April, this honor falling to the incoming president, Mrs. Foreman will accompany Mrs. Howell to the conference.

Constructive Work.

The administration of Mrs. Knox has been fraught with constructive achievements, the crowning feature having been the presentation of the Follies of 1930 last February, in which a goodly sum was realized for the Eggleston Memorial hospital, where in the Atlanta Junior League maintains a ward for sick children. One of the projects during her regime was the activity surrounding the Marionette productions, which originated shortly after Mrs. Knox was installed last June. "Jack and Jill" and "Cinderella," having been produced. She has always been one of the most active and prominent members of the league, having served as secretary and first vice president before being elected head of the organization. The problems confronting Mrs. Knox have always been solved with great efficiency, accepting her responsibility towards the league with vision, energy and devotion to the cause.

Elected to League Presidency

Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., who was elected president of Atlanta Junior League at the meeting held yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club. She will be inducted into office at the June meeting of the organization, and will attend the national Junior League conference held in New York city in April.

Mrs. L. D. Hoppe Leaves for Europe.

Mrs. L. D. Hoppe leaves tomorrow for New York from where she will sail Saturday, April 5 on the S. S. Sullivan, of Marietta; Mrs. William Du Pre, of Marietta; Mrs. Robert Leach, of Clearwater, Fla.; Miss Ruth Unland, of Clearwater, Fla.; Mrs. Webster Cole, of New York; Miss Jane Barbour, of Thomaston, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Graham, of Winston-Salem, N. C. This group of prominent travelers will spend some time in Sicily before going to Italy for an extended stay.

Mrs. Rice Attends Patriotic Convention.

Mrs. Charles F. Rice, second vice president, national, of the Daughters of 1812, is in Memphis, Tenn., where she will attend the meeting of the Tennessee society, United States Daughters of 1812, to be held next Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Rice will be among the distinguished guests at the patriotic convention, as will Miss Susie Gentry, of Franklin, Tenn., honorary vice president, national, and Mrs. Robert Woodrow, of Birmingham, auditor, national, who is also state president of Alabama.

Hebrew Sisterhood Gives Luncheon.

A high light of the southeastern convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations was the luncheon given by the Atlanta sisterhood Monday at the Standard Club in honor of Mrs. Maurice Stenfeld, national president of the Federated Sisterhoods of the Union. In the principal address of the afternoon Mrs. Stenfeld explained the work of the sisterhood and its mission in bringing religion into the home. Besides possessing unlimited information, Mrs. Stenfeld is an able orator and her address was a source of inspiration to her audience. Others on the program were Mrs. David Marx, who delivered the prayer; Mrs. Sam Schoen, president of the Atlanta Sisterhood; Mrs. Alfred Meyer, president of the Council of Jewish Women, and Mrs. Ernst Howitz, president of the Tri-State Sisterhood.

Maple Grove Committee Meets.

The telephone committee of Maple Grove, 80, Woodmen Circle, holds its spend-the-day meeting Wednesday, April 2, at the home of Mrs. E. A. Hardy, 1384 Beecher street, S. W. Members are asked to bring their materials for night gowns and aprons for the children of the Atlanta Child's Home.

Feline Nobility Will Be Seen At Cat Show This Evening

Feline aristocracy will parade and purr this evening at the Atlanta Cat show to be held on the first floor of the Chamber of Commerce building beginning at 7 o'clock. This show is the first of its nature to be given in Atlanta, and all cat lovers in Atlanta are keenly interested in viewing the kings and queens of local catdom. Many exquisite and beautiful specimens of feline nobility will be on display, and cat lovers will have the long anticipated pleasure of seeing that Atlanta can boast of so many fine-kitty cats, in spite of the fact that the city is without question decidedly "dog-minded."

This show is being sponsored by Atlanta's premier "catty club," better known as the Atlanta Cat Fanciers. This organization was formed last November at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Alfred Harbour in the interest of assembling cat enthusiasts in this vicinity, and sponsoring cat shows. This show, which is the first achievement of the club, will probably be the embryo of many exhibits on a larger scale in the future. Plans are already being formulated for a large official show to be staged here in the

Georgia Voters To Sponsor Banquet On April 10

Georgia League of Women Voters will sponsor a banquet Thursday evening, April 10, at 7 o'clock, at the Atlanta Athletic Club in connection with the institute of citizenship to be held at Emory University, April 6-12. A cordial invitation to attend is extended by the league to all citizens who are interested in promoting simplification of government in Georgia. Tickets may be secured at $1.50 each from the state office, P. O. drawer "B," Decatur, Ga., by enclosing check, before April 7, or by calling Mrs. W. C. Robinson at the Piedmont hotel.

The executive board meets Thursday, April 3, at 10 o'clock, at league headquarters, in Decatur, and the following board members are requested to attend: Mesdames Wellington Stevenson, Emmett Quinn, W. A. Omer, Walter Foote, Leonard Haas, W. C. Robinson, A. J. Woodruff, L. L. Hendren, John Morris, Sinclair Jacobs, C. B. Gosnell, J. O. Martin, David B. Mitchell and Miss Mary Dickinson.

Tuesday evening, April 8, at 6 o'clock, central standard time, the National League of Women Voters will sponsor its weekly radio program, "State Regulation of Utilities" will be discussed by three prominent speakers who will tell how New York faces its problem of utilities. The speakers are ex-Justice William L. Ransom, Professor James C. Bonbright and Colonel William J. Donovan.

FOLLOW THE CROWDS TO RICH'S!

"Just what," murmured the lovely lady, "IS the secret of Rich's hold on the people of Atlanta?" (HOLD is the exact phraseology). And she kept a doubled and re-doubled bridge game in breathless suspense until the gentleman with the Murad answered her question and mercifully let the game proceed!

"Because there is always something going on," he volunteered. And then he launched forth, "Why, only last Tuesday . . .

"My mother announced over the grapefruit that she would need the car that afternoon. She was attending a lecture on diet and sane reducing on Rich's third floor at 2 o'clock.

"My wife thought that a coincidence. She, too, was on her way to Rich's that self-same afternoon. There was to be a lecture at 3 by an internationally known social mentor . . . a charming person with snow-white hair and the voice of a Marlowe.

"And then Julia, my quite irresistible daughter, spoke up. In that case the two of them might join her at the Fashion-Tea Radio Broadcast in Rich's Tea Room at 4 o'clock. There's a fashion revue, and heavenly music—and the announcer has a voice just like Rudy Vallee's!"

"And that's the reason there is always a crowd at Rich's," ended the man with the Murad. "By the way, whose bid is it?"

"It doesn't matter," murmured the lovely lady. "Who wants to have tea with me at Rich's next Tuesday?"

Mrs. Bates Block Entertains at Tea For Mrs. Darlington

Mrs. Bates Block entertains at tea from 5 to 6 o'clock this afternoon at her home on Peachtree road, honoring her guest, Mrs. Percy Smedley Darlington, of West Chester, Pa. Mrs. Darlington and her son, Percy Darlington, Jr., arrived in Atlanta Monday to be the guests of Mrs. Block, their cousin, at her home on Peachtree road. Mrs. Block, who has been the guest of Mrs. Darlington, returned to the city with her guests Monday. Mrs. Darlington and Mr. Darlington, who will remain in Atlanta for several days, will be entertained at a number of informal parties during their stay.

Mrs. Darlington was formerly Miss Julia Taylor, of Atlanta, one of the most popular belles of society. She is the only daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor, prominent pioneer residents of Atlanta. The mothers of Mrs. Block and Mrs. Darlington, the late Mrs. Henry Porter and Mrs. Taylor, were sisters, having been Miss Fanny Lowry and Miss Alice May Lowry, sisters of Mrs. Thomas D. Meador, Sr., and Mrs. Leila Lowry Freeman. Mrs. Darlington and Mrs. Block are members of aristocratic families of Georgia and Tennessee.

French Alliance To Hear Interesting Talks at Meeting

A program of diversified interests will be presented by the Alliance Française at the meeting Thursday afternoon, April 3, at 3:30 o'clock, at the High Museum of Art. Miss Martha Sinton, head of the department of French at the Girls' High school, in compliance with a request coming to all French groups from the French government, will talk on the devastating floods that have recently wrought such havoc and loss of life in the southwestern region of France. Olivier Vinour, French architect, the speaker for the occasion, will present a paper on "Modern Architecture," a subject of which he is pre-eminently qualified to speak with authority, being a member of a well-known local firm. Charles Loris, president of the Alliance Française, continuing his study of the living French dramatists, has chosen this time for the subject of his short talk, "Tristan Bernard," whose plays are always running two at a time in the Paris theaters. Mr. Loris' talk will be illustrated by the reading of selected scenes from "Jules, Juliette et Julien," now being played with such success in Paris. "Je vais m'en aller," a short one-act play, will be read in full by Mr. Loris and Mrs. Holsenbeck, a native Parisienne, who now makes her home in Atlanta.

Mrs. Fay Gaffney Indorsed for Vice President General at Newnan Convention

Of special interest to local and state Daughters of the American Revolution is the endorsement of Mrs. H. Fay Gaffney, of Columbus, state D. A. R. regent, for vice president general of the national organization. This endorsement was made at the state convention held last week in Newnan, her name being presented by Mrs. Noel Murray, regent of the Oglethorpe D. A. R., of which Mrs. Gaffney is a member, and was seconded by Mrs. Wheeler Tolbert, of the George Walton chapter. In her speech Mrs. Murray spoke of the past accomplishments of Mrs. Gaffney, of her unfaltering purpose, enthusiasm, vision and fine faith, which coupled with intelligence and thoroughness make her an officer of exceptional ability.

Mrs. Gaffney was also made honorary president of Georgia Society, D. A. R., having been nominated for this office by Mrs. Howard McCall, of Atlanta, past national vice president, and one of the outstanding club women of the south. Mrs. Gaffney is bringing to a brilliant close her two-year term of office as state president of the Daughters of the American Revolution. During Mrs. Gaffney's term of office the work of the D. A. R. has gone forward along constructive lines as never before, and as a result the Georgia department has become nationally known.

The Helen Franklin Rogers trophy was won by the Hawkinsville chapter, D. A. R., on general excellence and accepted by Mrs. J. L. Mims, regent of the chapter. Mrs. Wheeler Tolbert, chairman of Helen Rogers Franklin trophy made the presentation speech at the Newnan convention.

Former Atlantan Will Be Married On 26th of April

Announcement by Mr. and Mrs. William Grant Roberts, of Melndon avenue, of the engagement of their sister, Miss Evangeline Goins, to John Ruskin Stubblefield, both of Miami, Fla., is of interest here. Miss Goins, the daughter of Mrs. C. A. Goins and the late Mr. Goins, made her home in Atlanta, where she was born, prior to moving four years ago with her mother, to Miami to make her home. She received her education at the A. and M. school, Monroe. She is widely known here and in Miami, and her forthcoming marriage will be of interest to numbers in Georgia and Florida. Mrs. Stubblefield is a prominent young businesswoman of Miami. He formerly made his home in Texas. The marriage will be solemnized April 26.

Out-of-Door Activities Interest Military Society

FORT McPHERSON, April 1.—Out-of-door activities are centering the interest of the military set these days with the Atlanta horse show scheduled for April 25 and 26, and its attendant entertainments as centers of particular interest. With the section of Colonel Fitzhugh Lee as the manager of the show the association has made a brilliant choice, for Colonel Lee is a perfect horseman and judge of horses and is the possessor of a string of thoroughbreds himself. Whenever his leave permits he journeys California-wards to overlook his stables and plan a schedule of racing for his animals. The headquarters of the show association are housed in the Piedmont hotel and busy hours are being spent there in preparation for this event. Entry blanks have been mailed the horse lovers in New Orleans, La., Memphis, Tenn., Louisville, Ky., Aiken, S. C., and other centers of the southeast. The army officers from Fort Benning, Fort Moultrie, Fort Bragg, Fort Oglethorpe, in the garrison will prove of particular interest with the polo and jumping events as sensational parts of the 30 entry program.

Heading the executive committee is Major General Frank Ross McCoy with the other members including the senior General George E. Estes, Lt. F. Maddox, J. L. Dickey, J. K. Otley and Trammel Scott.

Next Sunday at the post there will be a polo game and even though it is the first of the season promises to be a fast six-chucker affair. The Fort McPherson team has recently returned from Augusta, where they met the crack outfit from Fort Bragg, in a two-series game and came off victor in the first and the benefits derived from the stiff opposition of the high goal handicap men from Bragg will tend to make the Sunday game an interesting one for the spectators.

The luncheon given Tuesday by Mrs. Thomas H. Ramsey at her quarters at the post was a lovely affair attended by ten members of the military set and their guests. The table was covered with an exquisite cloth of Italian cut work and silver and gold with silver bowls filled with jellies and lavender sweet peas, while smaller silver bowls were placed at either end of the table and filled with sweet peas.

Colonel Melville S. Jarvis and Mrs. Jarvis, who made a host of friends in town and in the garrison circles during their tour at the post, were guests at the garrison Tuesday. Colonel Jarvis is now on duty in Washington, D. C., and he and Mrs. Jarvis will be in town again in a few days. Major Roland Gaugler and Mrs. Gaugler will entertain at a dinner at their quarters in the post Wednesday evening April 3. Later in the evening Major Gaugler and Mrs. Gaugler and their guests will attend the post bowling alley for a tournament. Covers will be placed for a number of the military set.

Captain Frank Child and Mrs. Child, accompanied by their small daughter, Leila, left Tuesday morning for Fort Benning, Ga., where they will be on duty until they visit Virginia Beach, Aiken, and relatives in New Jersey.

Mrs. I. H. Joffe and her mother, Mrs. F. M. Whittle, and small children, Patsy and Tommie, will leave Wednesday morning for Fort Bragg, where Lieutenant Joffe will be on duty with the quartermaster corps.

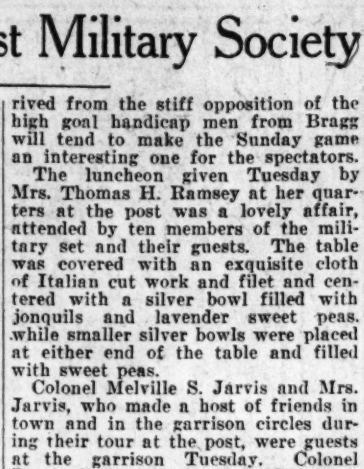

Major General McCoy will be in town on Sunday, April 2, and will be in the city for the Pritchard-Brandon wedding. The Georgian ballroom will present a lovely scene with the bridesmaids in their attractive gowns and with a number of college belles who are at home for the spring vacation.

Brandon will entertain the attendants of his brother's wedding, following the wedding of Miss Martha Pritchard and Morris Brandon, Jr., which will be solemnized at 8:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church. W. S. Kreiner will be host to a company of 35.

Miss Harman is honored. Miss Anne Scott Harman, popular member of the junior class at the North Avenue Presbyterian school, who is attending the social gayeries given by the school, was honored at a party last evening given by her sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Stewart at their home on Penn avenue.

The Misses Branch entertain sewing club. Misses Evelyn Branch and Elizabeth Branch entertained the members of their sewing club yesterday at their home on the Prado, in Ansley park.

The exhibition of oil portraits of children by Camilla Whitehurst, of Baltimore, Md., noted American artist, goes on view today at the High Museum of Art, 1202 Peachtree street, of which Lewis L. Skidmore is director. A preview of the show and reception honoring the Art association and Miss Whitehurst, who is in the city in the interest of her work, was held yesterday afternoon by the Beaux Arts group of the museum, of which Mrs. Henry Bernard Scott is chairman.

The exhibition will be shown at the museum through April 15. Miss Whitehurst has acquired a distinct reputation for her portraits of children and the exhibition of 20 childhood pictures includes much of the artist's best work. A fine grasp of the moods and nature of the child is reflected in these pictures.

Born in Baltimore, Md., Miss Whitehurst has made that city her home for the greater part of her life. She has received art fellowships from the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the National Academy of Women Painters and Sculptors, and the Grand Central Art Galleries. She received a first prize in the all-southern exhibition held at Charleston in 1921; honorable mention from the National Academy of Women Painters and Sculptors in 1923. She is one of the outstanding artists of childhood subjects and her collection here will prove of interest to art lovers throughout the city. The museum is open to the public from 9 o'clock to 12 o'clock and from 1 until 4 o'clock throughout the week; from 7 to 9 o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, and from 3 to 5 o'clock on Sundays.

School Girls To Be Honored At Series of Parties

Miss Catherine Coates, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Coates, who is a popular student at Converse College, in Spartanburg, S. C., is spending the spring holidays with her parents at their home on Emory road, in Druid Hills, and has as her guest her roommate, Miss Mildred Cobb, of Monroe, La.

During their visit here Miss Coates and Miss Cobb have been entertained at a number of social affairs. Yesterday they shared honors with Miss Elizabeth Merritt, of LaGrange College, who is the guest of Mrs. James Lester, at a luncheon given by Misses Melissa and Spencer Jack at their home on Clifton road. The table was artistically decorated with yellow jonquils and the entire color scheme was carried out in the colors of yellow and green. Misses Jack were assisted in entertaining the guests by their mother, Mrs. Theodore Jack. Invited to meet the three attractive honor guests were Misses Dorothy Coates, Elizabeth Stitt, Wilhemena Dougherty, Mary Goodyear.

Today Miss Margaret Smith will be hostess at a luncheon at the Druid Hills Golf Club in compliment to Misses Coates and Cobb.

This afternoon Miss Frances Starbuck will be hostess at a bridge-tee at her home on Lullwater road in compliment to Misses Cobb and Coates.

Monday Misses Cobb and Coates were honor guests at a luncheon given by Misses Mary and Eugenia Canlier at the Atlanta Athletic Club. The guests included a few close friends of the hostesses.

Junior Hadassah Holds Meeting.

Junior Hadassah of Atlanta met last Sunday at the Henry Grady hotel. Miss Bessie Geffen won the attendance prize. Miss Polly Gershon, chairman, reported on the Bollenman tea, which was given for the members March 15 at the Blue Room terrace. Miss Gershon urged the members to devote their untiring attention in collecting unpaid dues. Miss Lillian Esserman, chairman, asked that the members co-operate with her in completing the quilt which will be sent to the children's village in Palestine. Resolutions were read on the death of Lord Balfour, who was a great friend to Hadassah. Miss Sara Gershon, chairman, outlined the plans and aims of the cultural fellowship, which will rank even higher than Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity. All candidates must have an understanding knowledge of Hebrew, and of Jewish history. The candidates from the Atlanta unit whose names have been sent to headquarters are Misses Bessie Geffen, Lottie Geffen, Eva Hadas, Dora Gordon, Gertrude Tontak and Mrs. Leo Hirsch. A program arranged by Mrs. Shuman, chairman, included violin selections by Alvin Nissenbaum, and a piano solo by Miss Anna Lesnoff. Miss Perle Bokrosky, cultural chairman, presented a play on Hadassah.

Negro Dynamiter Captured in Florida

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 1. (AP)—John Henry Charles Barrett Brown, alleged negro dynamite thrower, is in the county jail.

And according to County Solicitor W. E. Roebuck, he is likely to return to the state prison for resumption of an interrupted life sentence on a charge of blowing up a house in Jacksonville.

The negro was arrested at Bell Glade today on complaint of Sol Andlers, Willie Reed and their women folk, who complained with great agitation that John Henry Charles, etc., had threatened to blow them up with a stick of dynamite he was carrying in his pocket. They got tired of giving him food and lodging without remuneration, they said.

"It's Mrs. Quack the Mallard Duck and some of her friends. I wonder if Mr. Quack is with her."

"At once Peter hopped out. At the first movement he made Mrs. Quack turned her head toward him. It was plain that she was startled and suspicious."

"Welcome!" cried Peter. "Welcome back to the Smiling Pool, Mrs. Quack."

"Quack, Quack, Quack" was the prompt reply, and Mrs. Quack swam toward Peter, leaving the other Ducks on the farther side of the Smiling Pool. "Well, well, if it isn't Peter Rabbit!" she exclaimed. "It certainly is good to be back here."

"Is Mr. Quack with you?" inquired Peter.

"He stopped on the Big River," replied Mrs. Quack, "but he'll be along presently. I think he's coming now."

Sure enough, another Duck alighted in the Smiling Pool and at once began swimming toward Mrs. Quack. It was Mr. Quack. Peter couldn't see the beautiful colors of his coat because it was not light enough; but he knew it was Mr. Quack.

Childhood Port ait Exhibition Opens At Museum Today

The exhibition of oil portraits of children by Camilla Whitehurst, of Baltimore, Md., noted American artist, goes on view today at the High Museum of Art, 1202 Peachtree street, of which Lewis L. Skidmore is director. A preview of the show and reception honoring the Art association and Miss Whitehurst, who is in the city in the interest of her work, was held yesterday afternoon by the Beaux Arts group of the museum, of which Mrs. Henry Bernard Scott is chairman.

The exhibition will be shown at the museum through April 15. Miss Whitehurst has acquired a distinct reputation for her portraits of children and the exhibition of 20 childhood pictures includes much of the artist's best work. A fine grasp of the moods and nature of the child is reflected in these pictures.

Born in Baltimore, Md., Miss Whitehurst has made that city her home for the greater part of her life. She has received art fellowships from the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the National Academy of Women Painters and Sculptors, and the Grand Central Art Galleries. She received a first prize in the all-southern exhibition held at Charleston in 1921; honorable mention from the National Academy of Women Painters and Sculptors in 1923. She is one of the outstanding artists of childhood subjects and her collection here will prove of interest to art lovers throughout the city. The museum is open to the public from 9 o'clock to 12 o'clock and from 1 until 4 o'clock throughout the week; from 7 to 9 o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, and from 3 to 5 o'clock on Sundays.

As stated by the Sterchi officials, it is their intention to serve the south with a strictly mail order institution. This mail order department is in addition to the regular homefurnishing department at the Sterchi store. Mr. Sterchi, the president, was in Atlanta last week and was exceedingly optimistic over the prospects and stated that business is running well ahead of the corresponding months of last year—(adv.)

Sterchi Bros. have added one of the largest stocks of Wall Paper that has ever been shown in the south—the first shipment consists of six solid color loads.

Sales for first two weeks were phenomenal. This is brought about by the fact that all Sterchi stores are showing samples and taking orders.

THE GUMPS—NOTHING TOO GOOD

The Emperor of America
by Sax Rohmer

NINETEENTH INSTALLMENT.

"Warn everybody. Fasten up, and loose the dogs! Something tells me we're up against a night attack!"

"Look here, Roscoe," said Stopford, "ownin' to my quirkish interest in your blameless young life, I've missed my ship, been shot at by some bloke who controls somethin' vaguely called the 'Zones,' and now find myself incarcerated in an astonishing mansion belongin' to an amiable millionaire. I gather that our Zone pals are congregatin' in the dark. I assume that one couldn't throw a stone from any window without hittin' a couple of Zones. Splendid! But what are we doin' here and what are we goin' to get out of it?"

The man addressed, a dim shadow over by the closed door, did not immediately answer. Stopford set the monocle in place before one blue eye, where it instantly and miraculously became attached. Then:

"Here's the answer, old lad," came the reply. "The house of Page Sutton, in which we are, is at present the focus of all the forces of Head Centre—all the Zones."

"Cheery ho!"

Roscoe advanced into the failing light which struggled through the window. Three inches shorter than Stopford, but sturdy and agile as an acrobat, his wide-open gray eyes were set unfalteringly upon the face of his friend. When Commander Drake Roscoe smiled, his tanned features looked like those of a healthy school-boy. But he was not smiling.

"Page Sutton has locked in his safe upstairs something that cost him twenty thousand dollars, but which, if genuine, is worth ten times the price. That's why we're here."

"Absolutely," Stopford murmured. "Painfully, distressingly obvious. But I rather gather, old scout, that that's also why they are here—I mean the blokes who've tried to shoot Page Sutton. Flocks of wolf dogs will shortly be loose on this pleasant property. There are prison-like shutters to all windows; a depressing atmosphere—"

"Stoppo," Roscoe interrupted. "We're in for a wild night! I'm sorry, because there are women in the house."

"Particularly Molly O'Hay,"

"Maybe! But there are others!"

Stopford groaned.

"Extraordinary thing, Madame Czerna's turning up," he muttered.

"Certainly the car broke down—but why outside this blighted house—and why tonight?"

"There's just time to tell you something else," Roscoe went on quickly.

"Sutton's daughter, June, was the victim of a queer attempt some few nights back."

"June Sutton! What's she got to do with it?"

"I don't know. But shut up. Listen. She was in the first place wakened. Next, she detected a faint sound that seemed to come from under the pillow. Finally, something—she doesn't know what—ran across the bed. Under the pillow she found a small wooden reel of the sort used for silk or cotton, fixed there by a piece of twisted wire."

"You're alarmin' me."

"It alarmed her," she bolted out and along to the housekeeper, Mrs. Dean. They came back together."

"Find anything?"

"Not anything living. Of course the window was wide open."

Stopford stared vaguely into the darkness masking the speaker; then:

"Not a glimmer," he declared. "Means precisely nothing to me."

"No," Roscoe murmured. "I admit it's obscure. But it may turn out to mean a lot to me."

In a room far distant, the Page Sutton country home, high in the center of New York, a red light glowed.

"H. Q." said a voice. "Report of Zone Officer 2A. Commander Roscoe has been allotted a room at the rear of the Page Sutton home. Zone Officer 2A requested Page Sutton to arrange an exchange as the barking of dogs always disturbs her. Transfer is being made. Roscoe will now face the lawn. Timed 10 o'clock. Report ends."

"Report of group master inside the Sutton home."

"Report to hand. He experiences great difficulty in making his report owing to the activity of Christopoulos, the butler, and of Ned W. Regan. Directly Mrs. Dean, housekeeper, has rearranged the room facing Sound to be occupied by Commander Roscoe, group master will make the connection. The delay is dangerous, as, once the dogs are out, making of connection becomes impossible. Report ends."

"Report of sector captain covering the house."

"Report to hand. Everything is in readiness. Standing by for instructions. Report ends."

There was an interval of fully a minute; then:

"Take charge of T. Q." came the order. "File all reports. Advise gage controller I shall leave by Exit Seven in five minutes."

The red light went out.

"We're in for a state of siege," said Page Sutton. His habitually fresh-colored face was pale. "This house is surrounded, and there are spies inside. What they want is in that safe." He pointed. "It's a map of the New York city zones!"

Drake Roscoe, composed, but his gray eyes very bright, stared at the speaker across the big, cozy study.

"You may be right," Sutton, said he. "You may be wrong. The gates are locked; the doors are barred; in a few minutes the dogs will be loose in the grounds. We want to be sure of the people inside. You agree, Regan?"

New W. Regan heaved himself out of a chair. His apparently stolid bulk hid a keen, cool, calculating mind.

"Whoever is inside from the other camp," said he, "doesn't get out! Because tonight we're going through this household with a fine-tooth comb! First let's have a view of your twenty-thousand-dollar map!"

"One moment," Drake Roscoe interrupted. "I have my own ideas about the map, and I have my own ideas about how this job should be conducted. There's one of your guests suspect, Sutton; Madame Czerna—"

"There!"

Dr. Stopford was the interrupter. Standing up, he began to pace the carpet, busily burnishing his monocle as he walked. Roscoe looked at him hard.

"The lady is a particular friend of yours, Stoppo, I know," he went on. "But you can't deny that she had something to do with your missing your ship?"

Stopford shrugged but didn't speak. The senior surgeon of the R. M. S. Rutlandia missed his ship, a new senior surgeon liable to be appointed at Liverpool.

"Very well," said Roscoe. "She came uninvited. She has now effected a change of rooms. The result is that I am located at the front of the house instead of at the back. This gives me an idea which may lead to the discovery of the spy among your domestic staff, Sutton. Which of your servants ordinarily has access to the bedrooms?"

Page Sutton considered the question for a moment; then:

"Mrs. Dean, my housekeeper," he replied slowly; "two maids; and, of course, the butler on occasions."

"The butler being Bach, an agent of Regan's," Roscoe replied. "We can leave him out. No other man servant?"

"No—except Armitage, my own man. He's in and out of my quarters, of course, but he has no actual business in any other bedroom."

"Ah!" Roscoe murmured. "How long has Armitage been with you?"

"Nearly a year. He's right as right. Shall I send for him?"

"On no account."

"Eh!" Regan grunted. "I have reasons for wishing," Roscoe declared, "that no one in this house should be hampered tonight."

"Good heavens," Stopford exclaimed. "Why not serve 'em out with bombs?"

All three men stared with amazement at the commander. But he merely smiled.

Enter The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign today. It's just getting started. New candidates can enter now and share in the distribution of liberal special gold prizes, profit by the 100,000 and 50,000 extra credit offers and win a beautiful car and gold as well just a few weeks later.

Have you delayed entering this campaign? Do you want a car of your own? Here's your opportunity. Just get credits in The Atlanta Constitution's great $25,000 prize campaign and you may be the fortunate winner of the First Grand Prize, a new $3,120 Pierce-Arrow Sedan and $1,000 in Gold. There are many other cars to be given—18 in all—besides 20 Atwater Kent Radios and cash commissions for active non-prize winners. There are so many prizes to be awarded that you are sure to be handsomely rewarded if you try.

Credits are all you need to win and these credits are given you for securing renewal and new subscriptions to The Atlanta Constitution. You may get these subscriptions anywhere and from anyone and two plans are offered you for obtaining them.

You can take subscriptions by contract, whereby the New subscriber signs to take The Constitution for a period of 6 months or 12 months and they pay the carrier each week for the paper. You do not collect any money whatever for these subscriptions.

Or you can take prepaid subscriptions from both Old and New subscribers and they pay in advance.

The Atlanta Constitution's plan of taking ONLY contracts on NEW subscriptions and paid-in-advance on both Old and New makes it fair for all candidates as it precludes any possible chance of an agent or carrier to turn over to a candidate hundreds of Old subscribers' contracts which would be very unfair to those working for their subscriptions. The subscriptions are verified—bona fide—and the workers receive the rewards.

Now is the best possible time to enter—there never will be a better time to enter the campaign and get credits. New subscriptions secured now bring extra credits and you also have the opportunity of winning a part of $500 in Extra Gold.

How Prizes Will Be Awarded

To the candidate securing the highest total of credits during The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 Prize Campaign will be awarded the $3,120 PIERCE-ARROW SEDAN (First Grand Prize and also $1,000 in gold); to the second highest candidate in credit standing will be given the $2,835 FRANKLIN SEDAN (Second Grand Prize and also $500 in gold). These awards will be made irrespective of the divisions or districts from which the winners may be entered.

After the two grand prize winners have been eliminated from further consideration, the three candidates highest in credit totals in the City Division (First Division) will be determined and to them will be given, in the order named, the $1,615 NASH SEDAN, the $1,190 CHRYSLER BROUGHAM and the $653 ESSEX COACH. In like manner the three candidates highest in credit standing in the Outside Division (Second Division) will be decided and to them will be awarded, in the following order, the $1,485 HMO SEDAN, $1,295 MARMON-ROOSEVELT SEDAN and the $906 PONTIAC SEDAN. These division car awards will be made regardless of district boundaries in each division.

After the two grand prize winners and the six division prize winners of cars have been eliminated from further competition, next will be determined the three candidates highest in credit standing in each of the ten districts. To the leader in each district will be awarded one of the five $685 CHEVROLET COACHES or one of the five $608 FORD TUDOR SEDANS. The five $685 CHEVROLET COACHES will be given to the five highest of these ten candidates and the five $608 FORD TUDOR SEDANS will be given to the remaining five winners of district automobiles. The second highest candidate in credit standing in each district will be given a $174.50 ATWATER KENT RADIO, and the third highest candidate in credit standing in each district will be given a $148.50 ATWATER KENT RADIO.

No candidate can win more than one of the above listed prizes. All candidates not winning a regular prize will be paid a cash commission of ten per cent on all new prepaid subscriptions and five per cent on all new contract subscriptions turned in by them, provided they remain active from time of entry and turn in at least $50 in new subscriptions.

The campaign ends May 31, 1930.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR No. 15

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Satisfied, Tarzan retraced his steps to the summit of the kopje. Werper, from his hiding place, watched him pass upward, then he dropped stealthily into the darkness of the tunnel entrance and disappeared. The ape-man, upon the kopje's edge, raised his voice in the thunderous roar of a lion. Thrice he repeated the cry and listened. Finally, from far across the valley came an answer. Basuli, the Waziri chieftain, had heard the signal and was coming.

Tarzan returned to the treasure vault. It would be several hours before his blacks could reach the place. Meanwhile he made six trips and each time carried to the kopje's edge a load of the precious metal which might well have staggered two ordinary men. His mind reverted to that first occasion when he had come by chance upon the gold as he fled from the pits beneath the temple where he had been hidden by La, the High Priestess of the Sun Worshippers.

He recalled the temple scene where he had lain stretched upon the sacrificial altar, while La, with poised dagger, stood above him; the rows of fanatical priests waiting to catch his life's blood; the brutal and bloody interruption of the rite by the mad votary. He wondered if La still ruled over the ruined city? Had she been forced to marry one of her grotesque priests? It seemed a hideous fate for one so beautiful as the Sun Priestess.

All this and more passed through Tarzan's memory as under the flickering candle-light he stood gazing at the long tiers of dull-yellow metal. And all the while Werper, in hiding, watched the ape-man, waiting for him to be gone. He had learned the secret for which he had trailed Tarzan and now he could return to his cutthroat band, bring them to the treasure and carry away all that they could stagger under.
